Israel, Egypt fight for Suez

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New tank battles raged today on the Syrian front and in a crucial fight along the Suez Canal as Israel broadened its hold on the western bank with reinforcements ferried across the waterway, Tel Aviv claimed.

Cairo said the Israeli report of a major thrust into Egypt was false and claimed the large-scale attack had been repelled. Israeli units are infiltrating across the canal at night, Egypt conceded, but claimed they were being surrounded and one unit was wiped out.

The Russian Embassy in Cairo said that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin returned to Moscow today from Cairo after four days of secret talks with President Anwar Sadat on "all questions of common interest." He declined to say whether peace proposals were part of their discussions.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger continued talks in Washington with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin. But despite the high-level contacts, officials predicted no quick end to the war. The fighting went on for the 14th day.

The Israeli command said its forces continued their attacks on Egyptian positions east of the Suez Canal in the Israeli-occupied Sinai Desert and around the bridgehead that Israel said Thursday it had established on the western bank of the canal, in Egyptian territory.

"In a series of battles being waged since this morning, dozens of enemy tanks, missile batteries and infantry deployments have been destroyed," a communique said.

The Israeli beachhead on the western bank of the canal would be the first time the Middle East ground war came to the Egyptian heartland, although Israeli jets have been striking targets in the Nile Delta. But an official Egyptian spokesman in Cairo scoffed at the claim and depicted the Israeli force as commandos on a series of raids.

"A group of foreign correspondents are visiting the Sinai battlefront today to prove that the Israeli claims are false," he added.

The Israelis said their planes and tanks on the Syrian front repulsed a combined attack by Syrian, Iraqi and Jordanian infantry and tanks. They claimed the Arabs took severe losses.

"A large battle by tanks and artillery is raging since the early hours of this morning between our forces and the enemy in the central and northern sectors," reported the Syrian command. "The battle is still going on."

Israel reported that its forces in Sinai had broken through the Egyptian forces that crossed the Suez Canal at the start of the war and had opened a bridgehead on the west bank north of the Great Bitter Lake four days ago.

The Israelis said they were pushing armor, artillery and troops across the waterway and that raiders from the bridgehead were striking out against Egyptian supply lines, command posts and artillery and antiaircraft missile batteries.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan was reported to have visited the bridgehead Thursday.

The Israelis said they repulsed several Egyptian attacks Thursday on both sides of the canal and destroyed 100 to 110 Egyptian tanks. Dayan said this gave his forces a four-day total of 360 Egyptian tanks.

Egypt said it was inflicting heavy losses on the Israelis in fierce fighting that had been raging since Wednesday morning.

Police storm bank, free 65 hostages

BEIRUT (AP) — Police shot their way into the building housing the Bank of America today and freed more than 60 persons held hostage by four Lebanese Arab gunmen.

The police said they killed two of the four gunman and captured the other two, wounding one of them critically.

Interior Minister Bahij Takieddin said all 66 hostages were freed, but the gunmen shot and wounded one of them when he tried to escape shortly before the police stormed the building.

Takieddin did not identify the wounded hostage. An earlier police report said a hostage had been killed and he was believed to have been an American.

It was the first report that an American was among the hostages. Previous reports said the guerrillas were holding 64 Lebanese employes of the Bank of American and two Japanese businessmen.

The gunmen, who are Lebanese leftists, demanded $10 million from the Bank of America to support the Palestinian guerrilla movement and the Arab war against Israel, release of Palestinian guerrillas and members of their own group in Lebanese jails and an airliner to Algeria or South Yemen.

The siege began just before noon Thursday when five gunmen stormed into the seven-story bank building in Beirut's financial district and seized the Bank of America offices on the third, fourth and fifth floors.

Police and army troops encircled the building and a gun battle erupted. A policeman was killed; one of the gunmen was wounded and captured, and five bank employes, three policemen and five passersby were wounded by machine-gun fire and exploding tear-gas grenades.

When the shooting stopped, Algerian Ambassador Mohammed Yazid and a Palestinian guerrilla leader named Tewfik Safadi agreed to act as intermediaries between the gunmen and Lebanese Interior Minister Bahij Takieddin.

Late Thursday night Ambassador Yazid reported the gunmen refused to lower their demands. He said he was abandoning his mediation efforts.

Police learned the identities of the gunmen and brought their relatives to plead for them to surrender. The elderly mother of one terrorist left the building in hysterics and was taken away in an ambulance.

Riot police, angered at the killing of the policeman, waded into crowds of spectators, whipping them with belts and clubbing them with rifle butts.

The terrorists said they were members of the Lebanese Socialist Revolutionary Movement. Police said their leader was a young Lebanese, Morshed Shibbo, alias Jamil, the country's most-wanted fugitive. He led the band in a series of bombings and bank robberies in the summer of 1972.

The group's first deadline was 6 p.m. Thursday. It was later moved to 6 a.m. today. They threatened to blow up the building, killing the hostages and themselves. Both deadlines passed without incident.

Arabs cut off oil to pressure U.S.

BEIRUT (AP) — Saudi Arabia says it is cutting its oil production 10 per cent during October and November and may stop all shipments of oil to the United States unless the U.S. government stops shipping arms to Israel.

In a move likely to encourage more Arab countries to use oil as a foreign policy weapon, the Middle East's largest oil producer said it will lop another 5 per cent off its production each month after November.

King Faisal's government "is making efforts so the government of the United States of America will modify its current position toward the Arab-Israeli war," the Saudi state radio said Thursday.

"If these efforts do not quickly bring about tangible results, the Saudi Arabian kingdom will stop the flow of oil to America."

Earlier Thursday, Abu Dhabi, the leader of the United Arab Emirates, announced it was cutting off all oil deliveries to the United States.

Saudi Arabia is third among America's foreign oil suppliers, trailing Canada and Venezuela. But the 19.79 million barrels of Saudi oil the United States now imports each month, and the 3.1 million barrels it gets from the United Arab Emirates, is only about 5 per cent of the nearly 400 million barrels of crude oil the United States currently processes each month.

Saudi Arabia and the other nine Arab oil countries agreed at a meeting Wednesday to cut oil production 5 per cent a month until Israel gives up all territory occupied in the 1967 Arab-Israeli war and restores the rights of the Palestinian refugees.

The United States imports only about 6 per cent of all its oil from Arab countries.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said Thursday in Washington that "we can meet an emergency situation if it arises." But by cutting their total production, the Arabs hope to cause oil shortages in Western Europe and Japan that will cause U. S. allies there to pressure Washington.

Oil experts in Britain, which gets about 80 per cent of its oil from the Middle East, said production cuts could seriously affect that nation's oil supplies.

The Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries said countries that show themselves to be friends of the Arabs by not aiding Israel and by pressuring it to give up occupied territories may get preferences in shipments.

New flu strain expected in U.S.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A new type of Hong Kong flu will strike this winter but a nationwide epidemic is not expected, the Center for Disease Control says.

"A new Type B influenza virus has been isolated, the BHong Kong 572," Dr. Robert Rubin, an epidemiologist, said Thursday.

There are two types of influenza virus — A and B. Hong Kong flu Type A struck in the winter of 1968-69 and was blamed for killing 27,900 Americans and leaving hundreds of thousands memorably ill. The new Type B Hong Kong flu has been occurring in Japan, Australia and England, said Rubin.

"It's probable that this virus will become prevalent in the United States this winter," he said, adding the center cannot predict how widespread the new flu will be.

Rubin said London Flu is more likely to occur than the new strain of Hong Kong influenza. The London flu, Type A, occurred in this country last year.

There are two theories as to how a new strain appears. One is that it simply is a variation in an existing virus. The other is that it results from a recombination or genetic interchange between a human type of virus and one that affects animals or birds.

When a different flu virus comes along, previous vaccines usually do not work against it.

Reach accord on Alaskan pipeline bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House-Senate conferees have reached agreement on legislation allowing immediate construction of the 789-mile Alaska oil pipeline.

The provisions approved Thursday contain language designed to block lawsuits by environmentalists seeking to delay the project.

The bill grants a 25-foot right-of-way on each side of the pipeline, plus additional footage as needed to accommodate construction, environmental and safety work.

This provision, in effect, sets aside a court ruling which would have limited the right-of-way to 25 feet. The ruling would have barred pipeline construction since more room was needed.

The conference version also bars any court challenge except under the U.S. Constitution. This has the effect of ruling out lawsuits under the National Environmental Protection Act.

The pipeline is designed to carry crude oil from Alaska's North Slope to the southern port of Valdez. Tankers would then take the oil to the West Coast.

The North Slope field contains an estimated minimum of 10 billion barrels of oil. The pipeline by 1980 would carry two million barrels a day, out of an estimated domestic consumption of 22 million barrels daily.

Rep. John Melcher, D-Mont., chairman of the conference committee, said the bill probably will reach the House floor for a final vote in about two weeks. The House and Senate must approve or disapprove the bill as written under a provision ruling out amendments.

Dean enters guilty plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III pleaded guilty today to conspiring to obstruct the Watergate investigation.

The charge carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine. Sirica deferred sentencing until after any future Watergate trials at which Dean might be a government witness.

Dean agreed to cooperate fully with the investigation being conducted by the special Watergate prosecutor's office.

In a letter to Dean's attorney, Charles N. Shaffer, special prosecutor Archibald Cox said that in return for Dean's cooperation no further charges would be brought with the exception of perjury if his testimony proves false.

Engineer spots missing man

A 45-year-old man, missing from the Columbus State Hospital for three days, was found by a B&O Railroad engineer today.

The engineer reported to his crew dispatcher that a man was lying in deep grass beside the tracks near the Holly Farms elevator at Bloomingburg.

John Self, a patient at the state hospital, was located by Auxiliary Deputy Mike Vrettos and taken to Fayette County Memorial Hospital by ambulance for observation.

Group plans mock disaster

Sometime in November — when least expected — a disaster will strike the Washington C. H. area.

It will be as real as any disaster, except for one thing; this disaster is being planned.

The first stage in the planning was completed at Fayette Memorial Hospital Thursday afternoon under the direction of Robert L. Kunz, hospital administrator, and Dr. Philip E. Binzel, chairman of the disaster committee.

The purpose of the mock disaster is to insure an effective emergency program for patient care at the hospital in event of a "real" large scale disaster.

People and services who will play a strategic part in the program include the city's Police Department, the Sheriff's Department, the Fire Department, the superintendent of city schools, ambulance services, all hospital personnel and the media; and of course, the 30-40 staged "victims" of the catastrophe.

Series of labor disputes rake Ohio during week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Production ground to a halt at a number of Ohio automotive and rubber plants as a series of labor disputes raked across the state this week.

Court action followed the labor problems in three of the strikes, although picketing occurred without incident elsewhere.

The strikes and work stoppages included the seven Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. plants in Akron, the Seiberling Tire & Rubber Co. in suburban Barberton, two International Harvester plants in Springfield, two Chrysler Corp. plants in Dayton and the General Motors complex in Lordstown.

GM officials said they hoped to return the Chevrolet Vegas and van truck assembly lines to production this morning in Lordstown. Both closed down Thursday evening after workers failed to show up for work, apparently steered away by a wildcat strike earlier in the day.

A Summit County Common Pleas Court judge ordered limits to the number of pickets at the seven Firestone plants in Akron after 3,500 members of the United Rubber Workers Local 7 walked off the job.

The workers are seeking a supplemental agreement, covering local issues, to a national contract negotiated earlier this year.

Twelve URW Local 18 workers pleaded guilty to contempt of court charges Thursday in nearby Barberton in connection with a strike at the Seiberling plant. The union's 980 members have been on strike since Sept. 30.

The 12 were among 20 arrested after mass picketing at the plant Thursday and were sentenced to one night in jail. Eight others pleaded innocent and were released.

The 6,500 International Harvester employes in Springfield, members of UAW Local 658, walked off the job as part of a nationwide strike against the company.

A spokesman for the union told newsmen that local grievances at the two plants also were being negotiated in Chicago. The strike involves 23 plants in 10 other states.

Meanwhile, talks continue between the International Union of electrical Workers Local 775 and the Chrysler Corp. in Dayton. The 3,300 employes struck earlier this week after contract talks broke down. The two plants manufacture heating and air conditioning units for Chrysler cars.

Mandatory energy conservation eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials who launched a nationwide campaign for voluntary energy conservation ten days ago are beginning to talk about making it mandatory.

They say such conservation could mean fewer airline flights and a little less television.

So far, mandatory fuel conservation is in the discussion stage, they said Thursday. But that's what they said last Aug. 9.

At the time a program of mandatory fuel allocation was published "for comment only" from the public and industry, and it was billed as a possible successor to voluntary allocation.

On Nov. 1 mandatory allocation for controlling wholesale distribution of home heating oil, diesel fuel, jet fuel, becomes a reality. This program already is in eftect for propane gas.

The administration has hoped to stand pat on this limited mandatory program with the aid of voluntary public cooperation in conserving fuel.

However, the administration already anticipates a winter heating-oil shortage of at least 100,000 barrels per day. Also the outlook was not improved this week when Arab oil nations vowed to cut their production to create political pressures against Israel.

Charles J. DiBona, deputy director of the White House Energy Policy Office, floated the mandatory conservation idea last Friday when asked how the United States would manage its fuel problems if the Arabs cut off their oil.

"I don't think it would require rationing," DiBona said. "It could be handled by mandatory conservation measures and extension of the (wholesale) allocation program."

Within days, mandatory conservation, previously unheard of, was mentioned again by another administration official in a background conversation with a newsman.

A third official, Duke R. Ligon, director of the Office of Oil and Gas, admitted mandatory conservation has been discussed, but said there has been no move to draft any such regulations.

While voluntary conservation has emphasized such citizen cooperation as turning down the thermostat, mandatory conservation would concentrate on more limited and enforceable actions, DiBona told a newsman.

As possible examples, he said that:

—Gasoline could be saved by lowering highway speed limits.

—The Civil Aeronautics Board could reduce the number of airline flights on routes where competing lines now fly partly-empty planes.

—The operating hours of large commercial establishments could be shortened and large electric signs could be turned off.

—Outdoor gas lamps could be shut off.

—Television broadcasting could be reduced by one hour per day.

Beef production to remain low

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although consumers are seeing more beef on counters than they did last summer, the government says it will be next spring before supplies really climb back to normal.

The reason: cattle producers, after cutting production last spring and summer because of high feed costs and government meat price curbs, need time to regain full speed.

Cattle pens are being replenished, but the Agriculture Department says the number of animals emerging for slaughter will lag behind a year earlier at least until the second quarter of 1974.

As of Oct. 1, the department said Thursday, producers in the 23 major beef states had nearly 12.1 million cattle being fattened, up 3 per cent from a year earlier.

However, many of those will take months to fatten, and actual sales this fall from the Oct. 1 inventory will be less than 6.7 million head, one per cent fewer than sold OctoberDecember last year, officials said in a report.

USDA experts think that by next June cattle marketing will be running 12 to 15 per cent above a year earlier, perhaps signaling a long-awaited upturn in the U.S. beef supply.

Reviewing what happened last summer, the report said producers placed 15 per cent fewer cattle in fattening pens than they did in the July-September quarter of 1972.

Sales of market-ready cattle were down 14 per cent from a year earlier, as many producers held back in anticipation of the Nixon administration removing price restrictions on retail and wholesale beef in early September.

Prices of live cattle soared to a record of more than $56 per 100 pounds in August, but now have receded to around $42 as more animals come to market and normal marketing resumes.

Many tax evasion cases settled like Agnew sentence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department prosecuted 1,342 persons for income tax evasion during fiscal 1973 and more than a third got sentences similar to that given former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, according to statistics released today.

Of the total prosecuted, 821 pleaded guilty, 330 pleaded no contest, 123 were convicted after pleading innocent and 68 were acquitted.

Among those who were guilty, the most common sentence — given to 496 persons — was a fine plus a period of either probation or suspended sentence.

Twenty out of the 496 were found guilty and sentenced after a trial, and 476 were sentenced after entering a plea. The Justice Department figures did not break down how many of these were guilty pleas and how many were no contest pleas.

Agnew resigned as vice president last week and pleaded no contest to one count of income tax evasion. That count charged that Agnew willfully evaded $13,551 in federal income taxes in 1967.

Agnew was fined $10,000 and given three years unsupervised probation.

A Justice Department spokesman said all others who received sentences similar to Agnew's were not necessarily convicted in cases similar to Agnew's.

"Just because somebody got a fine and probation doesn't mean that he evaded something around $13,000 in taxes and pleaded no contest," the spokesman said. "How much tax was evaded and what the plea was isn't what influences most sentences. Sentences can be influenced by an infinite number of circumstances in the case."

Other statistics on sentencing for tax evasion broke down this way:

Fine only: 112; 10 after a trial, 102 after a plea.

Imprisonment and probation: 130; 13 after a trial, 117 after a plea.

Imprisonment, fine, probation and-or suspended sentence: 76; 17 after a trial, 59 after a plea.

Probation only: 202; 14 after a trial; 188 after a plea.

'New beginning' urged by Ford

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford says government must make "a new beginning" to restore Americans' faith that government works for them.

"That it works not just for the self-interest of those in office, but primarily for the public interest of all the people," Ford told the annual Al Smith dinner Thursday night.

The House Republican leader returned to Washington early today for a trip to Knoxville, Tenn., to address an association of mobile home dealers.

Earlier Thursday, Ford noted it would have been the 100th birthday of Smith, the former New York governor and 1928 presidential candidate. He wondered how it would feel to be 100.

"After you get through with your confirmation hearings, you may well know how it feels," Ford quoted an aide as telling him.

On Capitol Hill, Senate GOP Whip Robert P. Griffin of Michigan said "charges of politics will be in order" if the Democratic-controlled Congress does not confirm Ford as vice president by the first week in November.

Senate action could possibly be completed by Thanksgiving, said Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the Rules Committee which will conduct Ford's confirmation hearings. The hearings may be under way by Oct. 29, Cannon added.

Cropping up as a confirmation issue are the tape recordings of White House conversations sought by the Watergate Committee and Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox.

In a Senate speech, Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., called for the rejection of Ford's nomination if he refuses to say that President Nixon has an obligation to surrender the tapes if ordered to by the Supreme Court.

Nixon has said he would abide by a definitive Supreme Court ruling, but has refused to expand on what he means by a "definitive."

Ford said, after his nomination, that for political reasons Nixon should have released the tapes. Ford avoided saying Nixon had a legal obligation to do so, saying instead that the issue involved questions before the courts.

Nixon deadline today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deadline for President Nixon either to hand over the Watergate tapes or ask the Supreme Court to let him keep them is today.

The U.S. Court of Appeals last Friday gave the President one week to take his case to the Supreme Court.

Otherwise, said the court, Nixon must give the tapes to U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica so that he can determine if the President's claim they must be kept secret is valid.

Sirica said the only way he could determine that was to listen to the nine tapes subpoenaed by special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Another option open to the President would be to ask for more time to prepare his appeal.

He either could go back to the appeals court with such a request or he could ask Chief Justice Warren Burger to issue an order delaying implementation of the appeals court decision.

The appeals court voted 5 to 2 to uphold Sirica's decision.

In an unsigned opinion, the majority said that the President "is not above the law's command."

It rejected his argument that the constitutional doctrine of separation of powers make the members of one branch of government immune from the orders of another branch.

"The Constitution makes no mention of special presidential immunities," the majority said. It described the President's arguments as "invitations to refashion the Constitution."

Agnew watches enjoy sales boom

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The Dirty Time Co. says sales of its Spiro T. Agnew wristwatch have boomed in the wake of his resignation as vice president.

Dirty Time's president, Dr. Hale Dougherty, said the company's 17,000-25,000 stock of the $19.95 timepieces will be gone in less than two weeks if the current pace continues.

"Fifteen minutes after the announcement came that he had resigned, the phone really began to ring again," said Dougherty. "People want it as a collector's item."

Ohio High Court actions noted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Supreme Court has turned down the appeal of a Lorain County property owner who sought to prove there was a conspiracy among 20 Lorain parties to ruin her business.

Horvitz Publishing Co. and others were accused by Mrs. Muriel Watt Mead after a story in the Lorain Journal, owned by Horvitz, gave the financial condition of Washington Square Apartments, one of her business interests. The suit was filed Sept. 18, 1967.

Mrs. Mead, who sought $1,334,000 in damages, said the newspaper gave "an untrue, distorted picture on an insoluble monetary crisis near bankruptcy" and caused a "premature run" on her company's assets.

Lorain County Common Pleas Court found that the newspaper had a legal right to publish the articles and ruled that in the absence of an illegal act, there could be no conspiracy. The Ninth District Court of Appeals affirmed the trial court's decision.

In another case, the Supreme Court dismissed Thursday the appeal of Robert A. Gilkerson of Columbus, who unsuccessfully challenged Ohio's "implied consent" law by refusing to take a drunk driving test after being arrested March 29, 1972, in suburban Whitehall.

The law states that the holder of an Ohio driver's license is considered to have given his implied consent to take such tests, and that refusal to take them poses a clear risk of losing a license.

Gilkerson's license was suspended by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. Franklin County Municipal Court dismissed his appeal last August and the Franklin County Court of Appeals affirmed that action May 22, 1973.

The Supreme Court, in other action, dismissed the appeal of Mrs. Evelyn H. Hawkins, who sought damages from Summit County commissioners in the death of her husband, Levert, April 9, 1970, in a fall from a bridge in Akron.

Common pleas court awarded Mrs. Hawkins $143,333, along with $5,000 from Ohio Farmers Insurance Co., the insurer of the county engineer. The appeals court reversed on the part of the county, but let stand the insurance company award.

The county claimed Munroe Construction Co., Hawkins' employer, was responsible for the scaffolding on the North Main Viaduct where the accident occurred.

In other cases, the court:

—Let stand a lower court decision ordering a new trial for Dr. Gregory Zann, Toledo, in a malpractice suit brought by Bernadine and Paul McBride after the physician performed surgery on Mrs. McBride July 2, 1970. She said she was forced to undergo a second operation in August of 1970 to remove a blockage in an abdominal duct. Lucas County Common Pleas Court handed down a directed verdict for Dr. Zann, but the appeals court remanded the case back to the trial court and ordered new proceedings.

—Agreed to review a lower court decision ordering a new trial in a damage claim against the East Ohio Gas Co. in Guernsey County. R. J. Skovolocki brought the action because of a pipe East Ohio installed on land for which he claimed to hold strip mining rights.

Guernsey County Common Pleas Court denied Skovolocki's claim, but the appeals court reversed and remanded the case back to the lower tribunal for a jury trial to determine damages.

—Let stand the conviction of a Lorain man on charges of possession and sale of a narcotic drug. Brice Riley was convicted in common pleas court Oct. 13, 1972, and the conviction was upheld by the Lorain County Court of Appeals.

—Let stand the second degree murder conviction of John Duncan in the shooting in Scioto County Aug. 15, 1971 of Joseph McGuire, 15. Duncan claimed he thought the victim, who was shot in Duncan's doorway, to be a deputy sheriff with whom he had been quarreling and had threatened to shoot.

Officer snaps photographs of 'spaceman'

FALKVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Policeman Jeff Greenhaw said Thursday he had taken pictures of a strange-looking creature.

"Someone could be playing a hoax on me but it scared me to death," he said.

He said he received a call about 10 p.m. Wednesday from a woman who said a spaceship with blinking lights had landed in a pasture near her house.

Greenhaw, who had been carrying a camera because of numerous reports of unidentified flying objects, said he found no signs of a spaceship but did find a metallic looking creature.

"He was standing there in the middle of the road," the officer said.

"I got out of my patrol car and said, 'Howdy, stranger,' but he didn't say a word. I reached back, got my camera and started taking pictures of him.

"I was scared stiff but he didn't move or anything, so I had a chance to take four or five pictures.

"Then I flipped on the switch for the blue lights and when they started flashing he took off running down the road.

"I jumped into my car and took off after him," Greenhaw said, "but I couldn't even catch up with him in my patrol car. He was running faster than any human I ever saw."

Greenhaw said: "It didn't have any features on its face and had a point on top of its head. It moved stiff like a robot and didn't make any sounds. Its shoulders were round-like and it really moved fast."

The Decatur Dakly published one of the snapshots taken by Greenhaw in its Friday editions.

Study Rebozo bank records for payoff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee's chief investigator is studying the bank records of President Nixon's close friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo, in an effort to trace a $100,000 cash contribution from billionaire Howard Hughes.

Sources said the investigator, Carmine S. Bellino, was in Florida Thursday working on the Hughes-Rebozo connection and attempting to reconstruct Rebozo's complex financial holdings.

Rebozo's bank records, it was said, were obtained by subpoena from the Key Biscayne bank of which Rebozo is president and board chairman.

It also was learned Thursday that Rebozo's handling of the Hughes cash is being investigated by Special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox and the Internal Revenue Service.

The White House said Rebozo accepted the money "as a potential campaign contribution" for the President about three years ago but that it wasn't used and eventually was returned to Hughes. This essentially is the same story Rebozo has given to Senate investigators.

"I'm sure that whatever entities look into this will find no impropriety," Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren told reporters.

Under vigorous questioning, Warren insisted that President Nixon first learned of the $100,000 earlier this year in a conversation with Rebozo. However, a published account of the gift appeared in 1971, and in the same year President Nixon's personal lawyer, Herbert W. Kalmbach, reportedly was informed of the money.

Stock list goes higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market opened higher today after Ohio's biggest bank lowered its prime lending rate from 10 to 9½ per cent.

The Dow Jones industrial average was ahead a fraction and advances outnumbered declines by almost 2-1 in very slow trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Active issues on the Big Board included Great Western Financial, unchanged at 22; Gulf Oil, steady at 22⅞; Aileen, down ⅛ to 4⅝; Control Data up ⅝ to 47⅞; and First Charter Financial, up ¾ to 18¼.

On Thursday the market closed lower, as profit-taking spurred by the Mideast war continued. Brokers said Saudi Arabia's decision to cut oil production by 10 per cent was a strong negative factor.

The Dow lost 2.78 points to finish at 959.74 and the Big Board's composite index finished down .01 points at 59.39.

Clear skies and light winds sent temperatures tumbling overnight into the 30s and upper 20s in northern Ohio.

Temperatures this afternoon should be in the upper 50s and 60s as a ridge of high pressure moves through the state from Canada toward the lower Mississippi Valley.

A trough of low pressure will sweep through Ohio tonight, bringing some showers into the northeastern counties.

The outlook for the weekend is sunny to partly cloudy skies, and pleasant temperatures with little chance of rain except in the northeastern portions.

60-pound porker is traffic victim

Standing in the middle of Danville Road on a sharp, blind curve brought death to a pig owned by Max Schlichter, Bloomingburg.

Steven J. Poplin, 20, of Bloomingburg did moderate damage to his car when he hit the 60-pound porker.

Making a turn under a yellow caution light resulted in an accident at 8:23 p.m. Thursday.

Donald T. Morrow, 17, New Holland, was making a left turn off of Court Street onto North Street under the light when he collided with a car driven by Cheryl R. Tutera, 25, Rt. 5.

Damage was moderate to both vehicles.

Opinion And Comment

In the wake of Agnew

Some cheerful and melancholy thoughts about politics in America come to mind in the wake of Vice President Agnew's resignation.

It is heartening that his departure from office was effected with so little disruption; that speaks well for our governmental system. At the same time, one is saddened and outraged by Agnew's sanctimonious affronts to decent standards of political morality.

Agnew resigned the second highest office in the land, but in effect he was deposed; the resignation was forced by pressures generated by his own wrongdoing. The interesting thing is that this removal from office went so smoothly; there were no factional demonstrations, no one was injured, no voice was raised in angry public protest; the nation's affairs proceed as usual.

We too often take for granted one of the underlying strengths of the American democracy, its capacity for the ordely transfer of power. Commentators galore predicted the downfall of the republic throughout the turbulent 60s.

Yet here we have a momentous political event - an unprecedented event reaching into the highest echelon of government - taking place without untoward incident in accordance with established procedures.

These happenings also prompt a more negative observation. The Agnew case is a stain on our politics. It now appears that a vice president vehemently championed "law and order" at the very time he was accepting cash kickbacks. We now know that while Agnew was making a public show of outrage about allegations made against him, his lawyers were busily engaged in the plea bargaining that brought his resignation and an admission of income tax evasion in return for the dropping of other federal charges.

This antiphony of moral rhetoric and immoral conduct can only foster a deepened public cynicism and confusion as to the political process. That is serious harm for which Agnew must bear a heavy share of the blame.

The republic will take these events in stride because of its underlying strengths, but the political process has nevertheless been gravely demeaned by this episode.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

That fine line

You may have noticed that, while there was great gleen in journalistic circles, the downfall of Spiro Agnew brought a distinctly muffled response fom politicians. Partly this was instinctive tribal loyalty: "We cannibals don't eat each other."

But it also reflected the meditative theme that must have suffused most politicians: "There but for the grace of God go I."

To say this is not to imply that most politicians are crooks — in my experience they are in fact somewhat above the national average for honesty. This may not be founded on spiritual considerations — the late President Johnson, discussing an accusation against someone he knew well, remarked flatly, "He's too smart to steal." (The charge proved to be false.) But, however motivated, men in public life tend to be extremely circumspect.

THE REAL DIFFICULTIES arise from the ambiguities of political spending, and the relationship between favors and benefactions.

Let us take a hypothetical senator from a farm state. In the course of his political career, which began perhaps in the state legislature, he has developed close personal ties with the farm interests. It was not a question of "buying" his vote — he was going to vote with them as a matter of conviction in any case. It's simply that he and his family have over the years become close personal friends with some of the big agricultural entrepreneurs.

Arriving in Washington as a new senator (with no inherited wealth), he needs a big house for his large family and immediately learns that — unless he is willing to move practically to the outskirts of Richmond or Baltimore — prices are astronomical. At this point one of his friends comes to the rescue with a large, interest-free loan, and he settles into a $125,000 home in Spring Valley. (Before you sneer, let me note that if my house — for which I paid about $40,000 — could miraculously be planted in Spring Valley, it would sell for at least $125,000.)

Say the interest-free loan was $100,000 — in net terms, at current interest rates, this amounts to a gift of $9 to $10,000. The senator is, of course, grateful, though there is absolutely no justification for suggesting that his gratitude influences his voting on farm issues. Question: Is there any element of corruption in this transaction?

Let us take another instance, further down the line. A congressman from a large district receives a total of $40,000 in campaign funds. Like the senator, he neglected to choose rich parents or marry a rich wife, so off he goes on the campaign trail, wearing out shoes, clothes, and his car in the process.

He replaces these items from campaign funds. In addition, he combines a wedding reception for his daughter with a reception for his big contributors, most of whom are personal friends. This too is charged off to the campaign; the rationale being that the presence of his daughter, her new husband, and a few extras did not alter the political character of the gathering.

HIS WIFE AND DAUGHTER may not glow with pleasure, but they are probably well calloused to the ways of politicians. The wife of a distinguished senator once observed to me, rather wistfully, that her husband would use her funeral for a political rally. What she didn't add was that he would probably also have charged it off as a "political expense."

I have avoided the simple, stupid stealers, the characters who put all living members of their family on the government payroll, or those who have been caught literally selling their votes. What we have is that vast gray area where politicians have to walk a very fine line between honesty and dishonesty, a line that is nowhere drawn with any clarity.

I have also chosen politicians without independent financial resources. In this there lies a real paradox: the Rockefellers and Kennedys are from the nature of things (as Aristotle would have put it) above corruption. I fully expect one day to see the political theme "Vote for Rockey (or Ted): He Doesn't Need to Steal."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SATURDAY, OCT. 20

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Timing will be important now. Choose the hours for stepping up action astutely; choose those for curtailing as smartly. Shun mere chance-taking.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Good stellar influences. Especially favored: real estate deals, home improvements, family concerns and social activities.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Your intuition and self-reliance stimulated now. And both will be needed if you are to solve some possible "tricky" situations. Don't become anxious, however.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

A period for review, reevaluation of your present status. Make certain that you are quite sure of what you REALLY want.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

A new venture ahead? Don't forget that the advance planning and first moves are vitally important. Don't let "tradition" keep you from trying a new approach.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Superiors should be receptive to your ideas now. Advance your best ones — but tactfully, of course. Romance and travel also favored.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Pull up the reins rather than rush ahead helter-skelter. You could get into trouble if you use the wrong tactics. Heed your creative urges.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Organize your program so as to eliminate time-wasting confusion. A good activity day for those born under this Sign.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Superior quality of workmanship and tact in all matters advised. Balance things; gear endeavors in keeping with high hopes. Results can be gratifying.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Your judgment a bit cloudy now, so make no major decisions and, above all, don't launch any new undertakings. Stick with the familiar.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

If you stick close to facts and control that imagination of yours, you should get along fine during this busy, sometimes hectic, period. Pick your way discreetly.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Don't give up on a pet project because it seems to lack luster. Try a novel twist in approach — to restore incentive and get going again.

YOU BORN TODAY are unusually versatile, and like the Geminian, COULD scatter energies but, because you tend to be thorough (even too meticulous at times), you seldom drop a project before it is completed. You have an impressionable mind — a good asset if carefully controlled. Art, music and the theater attract you, and you could even earn a living in any one of these fields.

Tesguino, a beer made from sprouted corn, is important to the Tarahumara people of northorn Mexico. The shaman uses it when blessing people, animals, fields or the harvest. When someone needs a big job done, like weeding a field, he invites friends to drink the beverage; they do the work and receive tesguino in return.

"Why do you want to live in a coeducational dormitory? I'd rather know you were doing your learning in a classroom."

"I don't object to your having a car while you're in college, Joe. All I insist on is that you earn the money to buy it — if you feel you need one that bad."

"I have a letter from the dean saying you have been put on probation. Is that an honor?"

"Mother and I send our congratulations on your being chosen a cheerleader, Jane. If anyone asks me what my daughter is getting out of college, I can tell them you've already been taught how to wave a stick and yell."

"Young man, I'll be glad to admit you to my lecture course on 18th-century Dolls, but only if you understand that the word dolls isn't being used in the slang sense."

"If you insist on marrying the boy while you're still in college, Jane, I can't stop you. But if you do, send your dental bills to his father, not me."

"The college infirmary has sent me a statement, Joe, listing $8 you owe for a three-month supply of pills. What are the pills for, son — and who is taking them? I'm just curious."

"You may have paid me $75 for the books at the start of the school year, but they were new then. They are used now. All I can give you for the lot is $8. Take it or leave it."

"You can forget your pipedreams about bumming to Africa this summer, Joe. A friend of mine in the advertising field says he can give you a job this summer passing out handbills. It only pays $2 an hour, but it is outdoor work and should put you in fine shape for the cookie-pushing season when you return to college next fall."

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Her pajamas, 'helmet' leave husband cold

DEAR ABBY: I am a male, age 52, married for 30 years, and I am still very much alive in every respect.

For several years now, my wife, who is a very attractive woman, has come to bed fully clothed in her uniform of pajamas which are buttoned high up around her neck and tightly secured at the waist, the wrists, and ankles. There is just no getting in anywhere.

She also has yards of toilet tissue wrapped around her head to keep her hairdo intact, and the whole paper-head is covered with a ridiculous ruffled nightcap.

I wish she would get one of those lovely nightgowns I have given her out of the drawer and wear it, so I could tell I was sleeping with a woman. I just can't stand those pajamas and that helmet!

Does any other man feel the way I do? I hope to see your answer before the fire goes out.

ANTI P.J.'S IN CAROLINA

DEAR ANTI: Yes, most of them do. Women, what are you saving your lovely, feminine nightgowns and hairdos for? It's later than you think.

A woman who goes to bed looking like a scarecrow reminds me of the bride who came to her own wedding in rollers-because she wanted to look nice for the reception.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old virgin and proud of it. My problem is whether to remain a virgin. Half the guys I talk to want virgins for brides. The other half want girls with experience so they know what's going on when they're honeymooning. What do you think?

Another problem: One night my boy friend and I were sitting in his car making out in front of my house. We weren't doing anything indecent, but a nosy neighbor told my mother about it, and now she won't let me go out for a month.

Can you help me?

MISS NO NAME

DEAR MISS: Stay sweet as you are. And endure your penalty like an obedient daughter. And don't ever make out in a parked car again. It's dangerous in more ways than two.

DEAR ABBY: We are 10 mothers writing this letter because we all have the same problem. We don't know what the laws of this state are pertaining to students' rights. Here are a few of our complaints:

1. If a teacher can't control the class, she marks everybody zero or "F" for the day.

2. If a student loses his money (or if it is stolen) he isn't allowed to use the phone to call home so someone can either bring him lunch money or lunch.

3. Do teachers (or principals) have the right to whip a kid without his parents' permission? (They do in this school.)

4. One child stayed out of school for religious reasons and in order to embarrass him the teacher asked the child to stand in front of the class and say a prayer.

MISSOURI MOTHERS

DEAR MOTHERS: You seem to have some legitimate complaints. Go to school and have a talk with the teacher and the principal. If you do not get satisfactory answers, appeal to the superintendent of schools. And as a last resort, there is always the Board of Education.

Mission Sunday to be observed by Catholics

St. Colman's Catholic Church will join Catholic parishes throughout the world in observance of Mission Sunday. The purpose is the spiritual and material support of 130,000 missionary priests, brothers and sisters, a matching number of native priests and seminarians; 100,000 schools; 1,000 hospitals and dispensaries; 127 leprosaria, 2,374 orphanages, 867 homes for the aged and education and formation programs in 833 mission territories.

The Rev. Fr. Richard J. Connelly, pastor of St. Colman's Church, said he will devote his sermons at all three Masses Sunday to the objectives of this annual observance and that special collections will be taken to support the mission program at home and abroad. Masses will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday and 7:30 and 11:30 a.m. Sunday.

Fr. Connelly explained that Mission Sunday also supports the humanitarian and religious assistance for more than 65 million poor where there are no anti-poverty programs. Included are refugees on three continents. At present, 28 lay volunteers, sisters, brothers and priests serve in the missions from the Central Ohio Diocese of Columbus. This week the latest two left for Peru: Father Steve Metzger and Brother Charles Metzger, brothers from Junction City, in Perry County.

Bishop Edward Hermann of the Columbus Diocese recommended the Mission Sunday observance by prayer, sacrifice and service.

Pope Paul has urged the observance of Mission Sunday, saying "the development of peoples is necessary for peace, and the goal of the Missions is development of the whole person. The people of God are a missionary people."

Atlanta Methodist Church setting for wedding

Miss Carol Justice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Justice, Rt. 5, became the bride of Robert R. Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patterson of Atlanta, on Saturday.

The Rev. Elmer Hurles of Chillicothe performed the double ring ceremony in the Atlanta United Methodist Church, before an altar adorned with vases of orange carnations, gladiolia and mums.

Miss Jill Long, organist, and Randy Woods, vocalist, presented wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the Miss Justice wore a gown of nylon organza with empire waist, high neckline, lace bodice over an A-line skirt, and long sleeves. Her chapel length mantilla was edged in lace. She carried a colonial bouquet of orange sweetheart roses and white miniature mums.

Miss Cheryl Justice was maid of honor for her sister. The bridesmaids were Karen Webb of Mount Sterling, and Cathy Payne of Williamsport. The miad of honor carried two yellow roses, and the bridesmaids each carried two orange roses. The attendants each wore dark green polyester double knit floor length gown with white collar. Each wore a white satin ribbon in her hair.

Jesse Patterson of Atlanta served as best man. Bob Justice of Beavercreek, and Howard Payne of Williamsport were the ushers.

The mother of the bride chose a light blue gown with a standup collar trimmed in lace, and with long sleeves. The groom's mother wore a brown and white dress with brown vest. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow sweetheart roses.

Hostesses for the reception held in the church social rooms were the Misses Cindy Caudill, Debbie Justice and Jeannie Morris. Miss Kathy Justice of Beavercreek presided at the guest book. The bride's table held a three tiered wedding cake decorated with orange roses. Punch was served from a crystal punch bowl, and the tables were decorated in orange and green.

The new Mrs. Patterson, a graduate of Miami Trace High School, is employed by H. O. Canfield in London. Her husband, a graduate of Westfall High School, is also employed by H. O. Canfield in London.

They will reside on Rt. 5.

'Hope' circle theme

Mrs. Howard Burnett was hostess to members of the Jenny Adams Circle of First Baptist Church, with Mrs. Eugene Thompson and Mrs. Myrtle Swayne assisting in the hospitalities. Cookies and coffee were served preceding the meeting to 16 members, and the hostesses donate a cash donation to the Fund for Haiti each month.

Mrs. Robert West, chairman, presented devotions entitled "Tomorrow's Time Enough." She also read Scripture. Cheer cards were signed the love gift and the least coin offerings were accepted, and the group voted to fill the quota for the White Cross project.

Mrs. Albert Caplinger presented the program whose theme was "Hope." A question and answer period followed. She also read Scripture which contained the word "hope."

Mrs. Marshall Boggs will be hostess for the next meeting at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ford and son Jeffrey, and daughter Melissa, of Bozeman, Mont., are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth P. Ford and family, 425 W. Circle Ave., Mrs. William B. Ford, Stuckey Rd., and other relatives in the Columbus area.

Young Adult Class meets, plans supper

Members of the Young Adult Class of the New Holland United Methodist Church voted to have the stained glass windows of the church repaired and all receipts from the annual turkey and ham supper on Nov. 8, will go toward this project.

Mrs. Rodney Miller, president, opened the meeting with the article, "Some Poor, Some Rich." She also gave the "Busy Mothers Prayer." Mrs. Robert Bishop gave a report of the annual skating party held at Roller Haven for the families of the class members.

Plans for the annual ham and turkey supper for Nov. 8 at the church were completed. Serving will be from 5 until 8 p.m. and tickets will be available from any member or at the door. Homemade noodles are now being made by the class and anyone who wishes to order may call Mrs. Bishop, 335-0653. Mrs. Richard Somers will be kitchen chairman and Mrs. Herbert Coil the dining room chairman for the supper.

The November 28 meeting will be one week later at 7:30 p.m. the church when new officers for 1974 will be elected.

State, local aid to police expounded

CLEVLAND, Ohio (AP)— Ohio police chiefs were told Thursday it is up to state and local government to give them the economic and moral support to get their jobs done.

Gov. John J. Gilligan told the Ohio Associations of Chiefs of Police:

"Marshal Dillon may have been able to get by with a pack mule and a six-gun, but modern police work requires first-class equipment, and extremely high level of training and a sensitive but courageous individual too rarely found in our culture."

Abercrombie backs farm tax amendment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Agriculture Director Gene Abercrombie has come out strongly in favor of a proposed constitutional amendment to tax farmland on its use, not its potential.

Ohio Perspective

Cut in state printing costs seen

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State officials claim they can save as much as $500,000 in the next two years by distributing Ohio's printing business to six low bidders throughout the state.

Joseph J. Sommer, director of the new Department of Administrative Services, said that for the first time since the 1930's, printing business is going to firms other than those located in Columbus.

He said Gov. John J. Gilligan was concerned that when he took office in 1971 all the state's printing was being done by a single firm in Columbus. Gilligan ordered the situation investigated, Sommer said.

"We rewrote the specifications to make them understandable to all printers and broke down the work into categories ... and as a result of aggressive competitive bidding, 23 bids were received for 16 categories of printing," Sommer said.

This means, he said, a savings of about 25 per cent compared to the amount the state spent for printing the past two years. The state's printing bill for the next two years will be about $4.3 million, or about $500,000 less than it would have been, the director estimated.

The six contracts went to three Columbus firms, two in Dayton, and one in Cleveland National Graphics Corp. of Columbus for years was the state's main printer, remains among the six.

The Ohio AFL-CIO has endorsed all four of the constitutional amendments that will appear on Ohio's Nov. 6 election ballot, calling them "beneficial to the working men and women of the state."

In its monthly publication "Focus", the organization gave special emphasis to Issue One, which would authorize the taxation of farm land on the basis of its agricultural use rather than market value.

The labor union said some Ohio farmers, under a new requirement of taxes based on market value, will have to pay up to 12 times what they were paying previously. This would force them from their land "and force prices of crops up even higher," "Focus" said.

Agriculture is Canada's prime industry, although it employs less than 8 per cent of its labor force.

Adventists launch missionary appeal

Sunday will mark the beginning of the 70th annual World Service Appeal of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. For the Washington C.H. church. it is the 40th time the fund drive has been sponsored.

Funds solicited extend the church's hand of physical, educational and spiritual aid in 193 countries,,including the United States. On a worldwide basis, Seventh-day Adventists aided more than 9 million persons last year. They gave nearly 12 million items of clothing, donated more than $5.5 million in food and cash, and gave 10.8 million hours of volunteer service to those in need.

The 2 million-member denomination operates 138 hospitals and sanitariums and 192 dispensaries and clinics, which treated 4.5 million persons in 1972. In Washington C. H., solicitors, members of the local Adventist Church, will make door-to-door visits through Dec. 31.

Ben Adams named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's director of public employment for the state Personnel Department has been named the new personnel director for the state Corrections Department.

Ben T. Adams will be responsible for recruiting staff, designing staff development programs and making policy, Ohio Corrections Chief Bennett J. Cooper said Thursday.

Terhune wins award

Robert H. Terhune, a former resident of Washington C.H. and ex-member of the City Board of Education, was presented the Governor's Award for Community Action Friday at the Circleville Pumkin Show.

Terhune, a former state director of agriculture, inaugurated the first driving simulator class instruction in Ohio in 1932 while principal of the Circleville schools. The Governor's Award was in recognition of his "Outstanding efforts to initiate and implement highway safety education programs in Ohio schools."

In his master's degree thesis in 1938, Terhune described how safety education could be integrated into the total curriculum from kindergarten through high school. Many schools today are implementing the same integrated approach proposed by Terhune 35 years ago, Fred A. Vierow, deputy director of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, said in presenting the award.

Terhune now lives at 2420 Shore Blvd., Columbus.

Teacher walkouts continue

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP)— Buckeye Local school officials have filed suit to force striking teachers back to work.

A hearing on the school board request has been set for Tuesday at 9 a.m. in Ashtabula County Common Pleas Court.

Both sides in the four-day-old walkout say no meetings are planned.

Teachers say they will stay on the picket lines, and school officials say schools will be open officially again today.

Although the schools have been open officially all week, only a handful of the district's 3,500 students have reported for classes.

The Ohio Industrial Commission plans a meeting today with striking Vinton County teachers and school administrators in an effort to find a solution to their month-long dispute.

At the outset of the strike, the school board fired all 87 striking teachers under the state's Ferguson Act, which prohibits strikes by public employes.

Then last week, the board offered to rescind its action for 70 of the teachers, but the teachers voted to hold out for reinstatement of all their members.

In response, the board has written the 70 teachers advising them they would be fired if they were not back in the classroom today.

Job outlook to be grim for graduates

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A University of Cincinnati study says college graduates of the 1970s face a tightening job market and should consider majors stressing flexibility rather than specialization.

The study by the university's Department of Institutional Studies predicts an "unfavorable" market for potential lawyers, physicists, mathematicians and teachers.

The report warned students that "the requirements of specific jobs may not match the skills of the graduates or many of the graduates may be forced to take a position in which they will not be able to fully utilize their education and knowledge."

The study said many persons with PhD's will probably encounter career disappointments in the late 1970s and the early 1980s.

Job prospects for engineers, nurses, pharmacists and architects are most favorable, the report said.

A "definite surplus of lawyers" was noted and "if enrollments in law schools continue to rise the situation will become even more severe."

The report stated the supply of teachers is also expected to exceed demand.

The major increases in bachelor's degrees will be in the social sciences and humanities, reflecting growing interest in social issues, the study said.

The number of bachelor's and first-professional (dentistry or medicine) degrees granted in the 70s will almost double the total of the 60s. Master's and doctor's degrees will increase more than 2½ times, according to the study.

Eber students told of Indian heritage

EBER — Students in the special education class at Eber School have a better conception of what life was like in Fayette County before the first settlers came in the early 1800s after Dr. Robert Woodmansee told them about the Indians who lived in this area.

He illustrated his talk with his collection of Indian artifacts, such as arrowheads, ceremonial stones and weapons.

Maine resident fined on check complaints

Acting Municipal Judge Omar Schwart felt almost deserted Thursday when only one person was scheduled for hearing in Municipal Court.

Paul Wolfe, 36, Lewiston, Maine, was fined $50 and costs on each of two counts of check fraud. He had been arrested by police on private warrants.

Engineer believes in ancient UFO

By BOB INGLE
Associated Press Writer

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — An engineer who helped develop the Skylab, space shuttle and Saturn 5 rocket says he believes beings from outer space landed on earth 2,600 years ago using equipment more advanced than anything man can have within the next 20 years.

During 18 months of working in his spare time, Josef F. Blumrich said he applied space technology to the Old Testament text of Ezekiel and came up with engineering drawings of what a craft described by the Hebrew prophet looked like and how it moved about.

"It all started in the fall of 1970 when I got a German version of Erich Von Daniken's "Chariot of the Gods?" and was convinced it was the same old nonsense," he said.

"When I came to the passages about Ezekiel I put Von Daniken's book away and took one of my Bibles. I told my wife, 'I will show you where he is wrong!'"

But, to his surprise, Blumrich — chief of the Systems Layout Branch of the Marshall Space Flight Center — saw things that made sense to him:

"In chapter one, Ezekiel speaks at length about the structure. It just so happens that I have myself designed such things here."

From a modern English translation of the Bible, here is part of the passage to which he refers:

"One day late in June when I was 30 ... the heavens were suddenly opened to me.... I saw in this vision, a great storm coming toward me from the north, driving before it a huge cloud glowing with fire, with a mass of fire inside that flashed continually; and in the fire there was something that shone like polished brass.

"Then, from the center of the cloud, four strange forms appeared that looked like men except that each had four faces and two pairs of wings.... And beneath their wings I could see human hands."

Blumrich has been with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) since 1959, when he came from Austria to join the space program. In 1972 he was presented the "Exceptional Service Medal" by the federal agency. His career began in 1934 in the German aircraft industry.

He said that by using mathematical formulas, he was able to determine the craft was similar to a child's spinning top, concave on the bottom with a crew compartment above.

The ship was 55 feet in diameter, and the length of the rotor blades was 35-36 feet, Blumrich figured.

"The thrust of the engine would be about 280,000 pounds, not much by our standards when you consider the Saturn goes into the millions," he said.

He believes it was used as a shuttle vehicle between the earth and an orbiting mother ship — the same technique used by the U.S. moon visitors who left their craft in orbit and touched down in a lunar lander.

4-H Roundup

Progressive School joins in projects

By CATHY WHITE
4-H assistant,
special activities

One of our projects now taking place is 4-H for the children at the Progressive School. Every Friday afternoon these children have a half hour activity period in which they participate in a 4-H project.

There are three different age groups that are participating, the primary group, intermediate group, and junior high group.

Each group has their own separate one half hour activity period in 4-H which is geared to their own capabilities.

Each group participates in various types of projects. These include cooking, sewing and creative arts.

This spring the children will show many of their projects at the 4-H Expo. This will give children of several 4-H groups an opportunity to show their 4-H projects at a time other than the County Fair. All these children will belong to winter 4-H organization like that of the children at the Progressive School. School.

ANOTHER POINT that should be mentioned is the fact that volunteers could be used. If you are interested in helping these children at the Progressive School enjoy 4-H, contact Cathy White at the Extension Office.

The Progressive School is not the only organization of this type. The slow learners class at Rose Avenue School also participate in a similar program. The 4-H program for this group of children will begin in the next two weeks.

Volunteers would be appreciated for this group also. Information about this can also be obtained at the Extension Office.

Why don't you help bring 4-H to all these children for a rewarding and learning experience for you and the children.

North Side water line survey due

Preliminary groundwork for the extension of water lines to the Rosemont Court area on the east side of Ohio 41 and north of the city limits was laid at a meeting of county commissioners, Union Township trustees, the Ohio Water Service Co. and residents of the section Thursday night.

The project was discussed in general terms, but Commissioner Robert Mace said there still are many details to be worked out. The most tangible result of the meeting was an agreement to make amore thorough survey to determine the number of porential users and to provide the basis for a schedule of assessments.

Part of he area—principally along Peddicord Avenue and Pearl Street—now has water service it was pointed out. It was estimated that there are between 25 and 30 properties for which the only water available is from wells; some of these properties, it was noted, are vacant lots.

The concern of the township and county officials is modern water convenience for the residents and the threat to health posed by wells and lack of sanitary facilities. It also was pointed out that many residents of the area are on fixed income, principally social security payments and old age pensions.

At the meeting were Commissioners Robert Mace and J. Herbert Perrill, Trustees James Baughn and Jack Cubbage, along with Everitt Robbins and Emerson Warner of the Ohio Water Co. Only four residents of the area showed up for the meeting.

Staunton-Olive PTO launches new season

The Staunton-Olive Parent Teacher Organization launched the new school year Thursday night.

After the program presented by students in grades 2 and 6, teachers were introduced. Eight teachers, including Mrs. Jerry Bumgardner, principal, were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Smith requested recipes from members for the PTO's cookbook which is being compiled.

A committee for the collection of Christmas candy was selected. Mrs. Sherman Wilson, Mrs. Charles Dawes, and Mrs. Marjorie Brannon will be in charge of that project. The candy will be given to the students during their Christmas party at school.

Guy Foster, superintendent of Fayette County schools, Kenneth Payton, president of the Board of Education, and Marion Waddle, a board member, spoke to the group concerning the merits of the junior high school bond issue and answered questions. The PTO voted to spend $25 for advertising in support of the bond issue.

A representative of the Boy Scouts made an appeal for den mothers and adult scout leaders.

Chest collections reach 42 per cent

The Fayette County Community Chest was 42 per cent of the way to the $27,000 goal Friday morning after Jim Dunn, secretary-treasurer, reported contributions of cash and pledges now total $11,233.18.

Contributions, he said, include those by business firms, industries and employe groups and from the residential campaign.

The largest to date, he said, was $1,800 from Armco and $4,592 from 533 Armco employes, a total of $6,397. Lee Lynch, who headed the campaign said 95.8 per cent of the employes participated in the campaign this year and that the average contribution was $8.61 per employe.

The Community Chest directors will meet at 8 a.m. Wednesday in the Chamber of Commerce office to review campaign progress and to list contributors of $100 or more for membership in the Red Feather Club.

Driver forfeits bond

The one person scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Thursday on a traffic charge failed to appear. Acting Judge Omar Schwart accepted an $18 bond forfeiture from Kenneth D. Roush, 26, Jeffersonville, who was charged with a traffic light violation.

Two charged in downtown shoplift case

City police have charged two Washington C. H. women with grand larceny following a shoplifting incident Thursday afternoon.

No charges have been filed against a 17-year-old Washington C. H. girl who was questioned by city police officers following the incident.

Police said Vickie L. Wolfe, 22, of 311 Bereman St., and Mary Jo Myers, 24, of 701 Blackstone St., were charged after they allegedly shoplifted $115.80 worth of clothing from Soldan's Women's Apparel, 212 E. Court St., Thursday afternoon.

According to investigating officers, a clerk at Soldan's had followed the two women and the juvenile from the store. In an apparent attempt to flee from the clerk, they entered the Emerald Inn, 114 S. Fayette St. The women apparently phoned a taxicab while inside the local tavern. Police apprehended the trio before they were able to get into the cab.

The Kroger market, 236 S. Main St., turned six bad checks over to city police Thursday.

CIVIC-MINDED GESTURE — Kenneth Bumgarner, left, president of the Court House Development Co., deeded .847 of an acre of land in the Storybrook Subdivision to the Washington C. H. Board of Education Thursday afternoon. Robert Highfield, president of the board of education, is pictured accepting the deed. The conveyance will provide access to land connecting the subdivision with school property. The conveyed land fronts on Glenn Avenue and is 50 feet wide.

Fall Scouting Camporee to get under way tonight

Final preparations for the Fall Scouting Comporee were made at a meeting held this week in the First Presbyterian Church.

The Camporee will begin tonight at Camp Pine and will continue through Sunday morning.

Scoutmaster Dick Maddux said Troop 112 obtained four new Boy Scouts at the meeting, and he has hopes more will join at another meeting which has been scheduled at 7 p.m. Oct. 24 in the First Presbyterian Church.

Films of Troop 112's 10-day fishing trip to Canada were shown by Scoutmaster William Cales.

The Camporee, which is expected to attract 200-300 Scouts, will open at 5 p.m. at Camp Pine. All Boy Scouts in the Paint Creek Valley District, which includes Fayette and Highland counties will be attending.

THE EVENT will be highlighted by six competitive events which will be staged by the Scouts. The events include such activities as knot-tying skills, tent raising, a compass course and fire building. Ribbons will be awarded and the public is invited to attend any of the events throughout the weekend.

A new award, the Chairman's Trophy, will be given to the best disciplined troop of the Camporee, Maddux said.

On Saturday afternoon, State Representative Joseph F. Hiestand, of Hillsboro, will conduct a trap shooting exhibition. The Order of the Arrow, the best Scouts from all of the troops, will stage a costumed Indian dance around the camp fire at 8 p.m. Saturday.

A non-denominational church service will be held at 8 a.m. Sunday. Transportation will be provided for Catholic boys wishing to attend services at St. Colman's Church in Washington C. H.

Bandsmen get set for grid shows

The WSHS Blue Lion marching band and the MTHS Panther band have completed plans for halftime performances at football games Friday night. The Lions meet the team from Bishop Wehrle High School in Columbus at Gardner Park and the Panthers take on the Hurricane from Wilmington on the MTHS field.

Both bands participated in the parade of bands at the Circleville Pumpkin Show Wednesday night and had only one day to polish up their shows for the football games.

The WSHS band's performance will combine some of the formations used at previous games, with some innovations. Parents night will be observed at the Blue Lion game.

The MTHS band will salute parents of the football team and pay tribute to the seniors with special formations and music. Mothers of the players will receive carnations.

The 4-H pledge

I pledge
my head to clearer thinking
my heart to greater loyalty
my hands to larger service and my health to better living for my club, my community and my country.

THE FIRST 'H' - HEAD!

The first 'H' in the four H's is the Head. Your head contains your most vital organ - the brain. That's what we're interested in, in 4-H - to develop the minds of young people in a way that would be suitable to fit Properly into society, or else be able to change society to suit them.

In the years to come, the youth of today will be the society of tomorrow, so if minds are developed properly they will have a proper society for their children.

An individuals, head, facial feature, and voice are like no other person's in the world.

That's what we stress in 4-H individualism, leadership, and preparing the youth to lead the world of tomorrow.

THE HEART - THE SECOND 'H'

The 4-H Pledge states, "I pledge . . . my heart to greater loyalty . . ." The heart is the second "H" of the pledge. It teaches the youth of 4-H to be kind, sympathetic and cooperative toward others. Also, thoughfulness is a good asset that can become a habit through practice in 4-H work.

In addition to the many worthwhile skills and information gained in 4-H one builds on his character and personality, The heart emphasize the importance of conern for other people, a vital element in good citizenship.

THE THIRD 'H' - HANDS!

This line of the 4-H pledge is essential to all 4-H'ers. Without the determination and the use of our hands how could any 4-H'er achieve a goal he has set out to accomplish. The finished project has been completed by the use of his hands.

How could a 4-H'er get things done without the use of his hands; Many clubs help in a community project such as the American Cancer Society or the Heart Association. Our hands play a large role in everything we do.

There is a lot of experience gained in 4-H through the use of hands joined together in the right ways.

THE FOURTH 'H' - HEALTH

Health is a vital role in activities everywhere. 4-H'ers strive for the betterment of their community in health.

Each club chooses a member (or members) to lead them in such activities. There are many opportunities in health for 4-H members and clubs.

It is the health leader's duty to encourage the club to strive for better health habits.

4-H gets it all together

Several years ago, the phrase, "generation gap" was bounced around by adults and young people alike. Youths were accused of not wanting to communicate with their elders, while their elders were accused of not wanting to talk to their youngsters.

Today, the " generation gap" has eased and both adults and kids can take some of the credit. Now, young people and adults are working together to solve mutual problems.

THIS SORT if cooperation is well demonstrated through 4-H, which currently is observing 1973 National 4-H Week, October 7-13, keynoted with the theme "4-H Gets It All Together."

Across the country, five and a half million boys and girls, ages 9 to 19, a half million volunteer adult leaders and thousands of Extension Service personnel are involved in 4-H. Working together they are putting the 4-H Week theme into action, in many ways helping to make their communities better places in which to live.

Boys and girls, of different backgrounds, philosophies and lifestyles, working together with adults to solve common problems—that's the 4-H picture in 1973. 4-H brings together youths from all racial, economic, social and cultural backgrounds. Rural and city youngsters have an oppertunity to interact, communicate and share ideas.

4-H is strong, and growing in all areas of the fifty states, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia. Urban 4-H is expanding too. In fact, the major cities in the U.S., all have active 4-H programs.

Low income and handicapped youngsters are involved in 4-H through flexible programs and projects specifically geared to their needs. And 4-H'ers have always aided younger boys and girls in all 4-H program areas.

4-H is reaching out to bring more people together "to make the best better" in new ways. 4-H television series on nutrition and nuclear energy are premiering this year on hundreds of stations. These and other 4-H efforts will reach hundreds of thousands of young people who've never been exposed to the 4-H program before.

HELPING 4-H'ers and their leaders "get it all together" are business organizations, foundations, civic groups and private individuals, who aid the 4-H program. On the national scene alone, over $3 million dollars is being expended in 1973 to aid 4-H programs through the National 4-H Service Committee.

Contributing importantly too, are over 31 million Americans who are 4-H alumni. These former 4-H'ers get together with young people in 4-H programs at all levels.

Working together, growing together, learning together—that's what 4-H is all about in 1973. And we support the efforts of the total 4-H program, nationwide. William J. Kuhfuss, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation recently remarked that "The 4-H Clubs of America are an excellent vehicle for developing sound, conscientious citizens."

We agree with Mr. Kuhfuss' observations, and salute 4-H'ers, their leadersand their friends on this occasion of 1973 National 4-H Week.

We encourage youths to explore opportunities for developing their talents and skills through 4-H. And parents and others may wish to volunteer their services as leaders or program consultants. Further information on 4-H may be obtained from county extension offices or volunteer 4-H leaders in local communities.

We feel that through 4-H, young people and adults can "Get It All Together" for the benefit of all Americans.

Achievement awards offered

Recognition of the achievements of 4-H club members has long been a strong point of 4-H club work in Fayette County. Recognition takes many forms from a small pat on the back in the local club to a college scholarship on the national level.

Opportunities for Fayette County 4-H members to receive recognition are plentiful of course, projects awards at the Fair form the most well known part of the awards program. Local businessman and service groups have been generous through the years in providing trophies, plaques, merchandise, and gift certificates to achievers in project areas.

Other 4-H youth are rewarded for achievement in the entangible areas of leadership development and citizenship services. Trip awards to state and national 4-H events for local 4-H'ers are provided for these winners. Week long trips to Ohio 4-H Club Congress, state 4-H Junior Leadership Camp, State 4-H Conservation Camp, National Citizenship Short Course in Washington D.C., and inter-county exchanges serve Stimuli for achievement in leadership and citizenship.

Many outstanding Fayette County 4-H'ers have participated and achieved in the state and national 4-H awards programs in recent years. The state-national program is designed to reward the most outstanding 4-H club members on the basis of both leadership and project achievements. Awards are presented in many areas including citizenship, leadership, achievement, and practically all project areas. Winners on the state level may receive a trip award to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Founders Camp at Camp Minawanca, Michigan, or National 4-H Conference in Washington D.C. To name a few.

Each 4-H Club member has an opportunity to achieve in an awards area.

Enthusiasm important for camp counselors

In addition to playing stepmother to many campers, the counselor is expected to participate in everything. This includes sweeping floors, cleaning up cabins and remaking all the bunks in their cabine for inspection. It requires talent for answering questions and setting an example for young 4-H'ers.

Little details are minor when you get down to really being "Camp Counselor". Working with campers is challenging and very rewarding. You have plenty of fun, but you also gain knowledge through this experience.

A camper goes to camp for the purpose of having lots and lots of fun. It may be playing volleyball, basketball, softball or taking nature hikes. Probably the favorite recreational area is the swimming pool. Counselors help the lifeguard with beginners who are taught basic skills such as rhythmic breathing and floating. More advanced campers learn elementary back strokes, breath strokes, and side strokes. General swims for everybody are once in the morning and once in the afternoon.

Campers have many responsibilities that were meant to be learning processes and not just work. One is raising the American and 4-H flags in the morning and lowering them in the late afternoon.

Setting and clearing the table for meals is another responsibility of campers. Boys and girls take turns doing this at their particular table. Tables are inspected after they were cleared to make sure a good job was done.

Sometimes, the camp epidemic — homesickness is cureable with little effort. The counselors and advisers try to handle this problem by not mentioning the word, and by trying to get them involved in their surroundings.

Other highlights of camp are making crafts, vespers, campfires, conservation, nightly recreation consisting of competitive games and dances.

Committee key part of 4-H program

The county Extension 4-H Committee is one of the many parts of the 4-H program in Fayette County. The committee is composed of 4-H advisors and Junior Leaders and meets several times per year.

The main functions of the County 4-H Committee are to advise and assists in developing the county 4-H program and activities, to evaluate the 4-H program, and to serve as representatives of the 4-H advisors in each area of the county considering their ideas and solving the problems that might occur.

It is both an honor and a responsibility for 4-H advisors and Junior Leaders to serve on the 4-H committee. This job involves extra meetings and work for some busy people. Many times you will not see these people out front working at 4-H activities such as the Fayette County Fair, but you will always find them behind the scenes, and they are trying to make things run a little more smoothly.

The 4-H program in Fayette County is a top notch program and much of the success is credited to the County 4-H Committee. The people are 4-H advisors and junior leaders who are interested in the youth of our county and this helps to Make the program continue to be strong.

4-H Clubs spell fun

By CINDY DAVIS

4-H is fun, but it's not only fun, it's a worthwhile experience. After participating in club work for eight years, my projects have included market hogs, sewing, outdoor cookery and first aid.

Through 4-H I have had the opportunity to meet people and make new friends; not only in this community, but in the surrounding counties and the entire state.

Camping at Camp Clifton is a wonderful experience available to any 4-H'er. I've attended camp six times as a camper and once as a counselor. At Camp Clifton one is completely surrounded by the beauty of nature where camp is more than just fun and a sense of responsibility is learned.

Many awards are given to deserving 4-H members. Awards are not just given to outstanding projects, but also for the way these projects are presented and for outstanding officers in the individual clubs. These awards include such things as money, trophies, plaques, jackets, trips and the opportunity to participate at the Ohio State Fair.

4-H presents the opportunity to express and develop leadership. The Junior Leadership Club, which consists of older 4-H members, offers many ways to become involved. Through Junior Leadership, I was able to attend Ohio 4-H Club Congress on the Ohio State campus with delegates from throughout Ohio. Other trips that are given for outstanding work in 4-H include the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago and the Citizenship Short Course, Washington D.C.

Advisers vital to success

The 4-H club adviser - the adult volunteer leader who teaches 4-H members - is the most important key to the success that 4-H club work enjoys.

A foreign visitor to this country once observed that all activity would come to a halt if Americans were suddenly to stop doing volunteer work. That certainly would be true of 4-H

Who are 4-H advisors? They are people whom you probably know or what you possibly should become. The advisor may be a 19-year-old student, or a 69-year-old senior citizen. He may be a farmer or a pharmacist, an engineer or an entomologist, a custodian or a school teacher. She might be a housewife or a hair stylist, a secretary or a seamstress, a librarian or waitress.

When they become advisors they already possess certain desirable qualifications. Certainly they liked boys and girls, who, in turn, liked them. These advisers were respected in their communities, and they are enthusiastic about 4-H club work. They possess high standards for sportsmanship and honesty. Being unselfish and cooperative, they enjoy working with others and were effective in doing so.

All of these desirable qualities of an adviser will not be found in any one person when he assumes the leadership of a 4-H club. Advisers develop many leadership skills from actual experience working with their club members, other skills are acquired by their participation in training programs, which are tailored to their needs and interests. This experience and training helps them become good teachers and effective organizers.

4-H advisers reward comes in many ways. Most of them are quick to say that their greatest payment is provided in the satisfactions which can come only from knowing that they have contributed to the total growth and development of boys and girls.

The advisers are also rewarded in knowing that they are making their communities a better place in which to live.

Advisers, through their training programs, also learn new methods of doing things which help them personally.

Fayette County's 173 advisers are making a valuable contribution toward building a better place for all of us to live.

Anyone desiring to assist these community builders in their endeavors can indicate this by calling the Extension Office at 335-1150.

Sheep projects are rewarding

A sheep project in 4-H is for all boys and girls who like to be outdoors, who like animals and who are willing to take the responsibility of caring for livestock.

In caring for a 4-H lamb, you must feed and water it daily, wash it about two weeks before the Fair, have it sheared about a month before the Fair, and then it's showing time at the Fair in the market lamb show.

If you are willing to take these responsibilities and keep records of your feed, date of birth and profits made then you are the one to be taking this project.

Along with these two Agricultural Projects are others such as Beef Breeding, Steer Feeding, Dog Care and Obedience Training, Pork Production and Poultry. There are twenty four areas that you may choose from in Crops and Garden. Conservation has thirteen areas to pick from. Veterinary Science has three areas that you can choose projects from. Hamsters, Pocket Pets and Cats are areas in the Pilot Projects.

Any boy or girl, 9-19 years old may become a 4-H member and enjoy any of these projects.

Dairy projects are challenging

The 4-H dairy project offers many interesting and challenging activities to club members interested in the milk producing aspects of agriculture.

Selecting the animal from a herd free from TB and other diseases, and selecting a animal of good dairy type.

Feeding the animal is important for proper growth. Good pasture should be available at all times along with hay and silage.

As any other projects showing at the Fair is the high point of the year. Fitting the animal before the show is very important. Fitting includes daily brushing, trimming the head, and feet and exercise. Daily exercise is also essential.

Other activities of the project include the judging contest and keeping accurate records on the growth.

SHOWMAN OF SHOWMEN — Mike Jenks was named the Showman of Showmen at this year's Fayette County Fair. Presenting the awards is Fair Queen Nelta Baker.

Polish fighter pilots compile outstanding record in World War II

FARMINGTON, Conn. (AP) — The Polish Air Force was no joke to Hitler during World War II, according to a University of Connecticut psychiatrist who is also an aviation history buff.

Dr. Michael A. Peszke wrote for the Journal of the American Aviation Historical Society.

Among his findings: From July 10 to Oct. 31, 1940, every fifth fighter pilot who rose to the defense of British skies was a Pole.

In that battle, the Battle of Britain, British pilots downed three German planes for every pilot lost. Polish pilots flying with Royal Air Force units scored four for one. Pilots in all-Polish squadrons attached to the RAF scored nine for one.

The highest scoring unit in that battle was the Polish Air Force's Kosciuszko Fighter Squadron. It downed 126 enemy planes.

Growth is most important value of Junior Leaders

No one can ever completely evaluate all the wonderful values that may be realized from being a Junior Leader. Certainly, every person who joins Junior Leadership Club will appreciate the fellowship, leadership training and personal growth that are provided.

When a group of 4-H teenagers get together, they are sure to have lots of fun, and having fun is stressed strongly in Junior Leadership. The fellowship and the good times are inevitable when older 4-H members make new acquaintances or renew former ones. Interesting programs and plenty of recreation, such as dancing and singing, create a warm atmosphere of social fun and fellowship.

HOWEVER, Junior Leadership is not all fun. The main purpose of the club is to develop the leadership qualities of older 4-H members so that they, as Junior Leaders, and assist 4-H clubs in organizing the club, planning the programs, and conducting the meeting. The biggest problem Junior Leaders experience is learning to work with other people.

Usually, Junior Leaders are faced with a problem like this: These leaders have the knowledge of what to teach 4-H youngsters, but they find it difficult to get new ideas across to other 4-H members. To solve this problem, the Junior Leadership Club sponsors different training meetings where junior leaders learn valuable skills in teaching younger 4-H members.

The most important value of J.L. Club is the growing as a person. Improvement in his own character is a goal that every Junior Leader can reach if he is willing to work hard, willing to give more than he receives, and willing to be a good team worker. This training helps a person not only in 4-H, but in school, athletics, and his career.

The values of being in Junior Leadership are many. Surely, every Junior Leader can develop leadership qualities, improve himself as a person, and have fun at the same time if he takes the training seriously.

Mets capture 3-2 margin in Series

OAKLAND (AP) — The New York Mets brought a 3-2 World Series lead back to Oakland today, hoping to finish the sinking A's with the right-hand punch of ace Tom Seaver.

Although Manager Yogi Berra wouldn't say directly, the New York pilot indicated Thursday night that Seaver would start in Saturday's sixth game in Oakland against A's ace Jim "Catfish" Hunter.

"Seaver's arm is fine," said Berra after the Mets won the fifth game 2-0 in New York. "Let's just say that it's a good chance that it might be Seaver."

The hard-throwing ace is the only right-hander among the Mets' starters, but it really doesn't matter which side they've been throwing from in this best-of-seven-game Series. They've shackled the A's power.

Lefthanders especially have been awfully tough on the predominantly righthand Oakland batting order—and Thursday night's performance was a good example.

Southpaw Jerry Koosman started and shut out the A's for 6 1-3 innings. Left-handed Tug McGraw finished up with a stunning relief performance.

"We've got the best pitching in baseball," said Berra after the victory before a packed house of 54,817 at cold, windswept Shea Stadium. "That's what got us here in the first place."

It was apparent from the start that pitching would dominate Thursday night's game. Koosman and Oakland's Vida Blue were locked in a tense early struggle as the Mets took a 1-0 lead in the second inning on a double by flu-stricken Cleon Jones and a run-scoring single by John Milner.

The Mets had Blue on the ropes in the fourth when Rusty Staub and Jones singled to start the inning, but failed to deliver a knockout blow. Blue pitched out of the jam. He failed, however to survive the sixth, when the Mets scored their second run on a single by Jerry Grote and triple by Don Hahn.

"It was the most important hit of my life," said Hahn, who isn't normally known for gamewinning hits. "It gave Jerry more of a cushion to work with."

Blue exploded a fastball inside and Hahn hit it into the left-center field alley.

"I was kind of tight in the first four games," said the softspoken center fielder. "But Buddy (Harrelson) told me I'd been too rigid standing at the plate. So I went up there super relaxed tonight.

"I felt I could hit anybody. I had super confidence."

That insurance run looked big in the late going when Koosman got into trouble. In the seventh inning, he walked Gene Tenace and gave up a one-out double to Ray Fosse that put men on second and third.

Browns, Cowboys victors

Panther frosh notch fourth straight win

The Miami Trace freshman team rolled to its fourth victory in a row after an opening season tie by defeating Wilmington 12-0 Thursday at Miami Trace Field.

Following the freshman game the Miami Trace junior high league held two games. The Browns defeated the Rams 22-8 and the Cowboys kept their winning streak alive with a 48-6 victory over the Bengals.

The Panther frosh remained scoreless through two quarters, but got on the track and produced two touchdowns in the second half while allowing none to the Clinton Countians for their 4-0 record in league play.

The defense held Wilmington in check the whole game. Miami Trace allowed 118 yards overall with 78 yards of that coming in the air. Constantly the defensive line racked up the Wilmington runners behind the line of scrimmage.

WITH THE defense doing a great job the offense totalled 210 yards with the majority of that going to Dan Gifford who tallied 90 yards in only 13 tries.

The scoring for Miami Trace came from runs of 41 yards and 30 yards by Gifford and Mike Crabtree, respectively.

The freshman play one more game for the season at Miami Trace Field. Unioto will come in for a 4 p.m. encounter Thursday.

In the junior high league the Browns scored 22 points in the second half to give them their first victory of the season over the winless Rams.

The Browns' scores came on three runs from within the 30-yard stripe by Shane Riley, Dave Hennesey and Scott Martin.

The Rams' only score came in the first quarter on a C. J. Nicley pass to Walter Hart.

In the third contest of the evening at Miami Trace Field the Bengals were thumped by the Cowboys for their first loss of the season.

The Bengals only tally came in the fourth quarter on a three-yard run by Kevin Stockwell.

But the Cowboys, led by Art Schlichter, scored in every quarter to keep a perfect record at 3-0.

Schlichter hit on 12 of 17 passes for 267 yards and three touchdowns. The talented passer also scored on a 15-yard jaunt. The other Cowboy scores came from runs by Todd Anderson, Dennis Combs and Dean Farris. On the receiving end of Schlichter's passes were Bill Hanners and Farris.

The Miami Trace junior high league will have another set of games next Thursday evening following the freshman game.

Ohio State, Michigan favored

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio State's top-rated Buckeyes and Michigan's No. 4 Wolverines both are favored heavily to continue dominating the Big Ten football race Saturday when two other still undefeated contenders may stumble.

Illinois and Northwestern, also owning 2-0 Conference records, could be in trouble in road tests respectively at Michigan State 0-2 and Purdue 1-1.

The Fighting Illini-Spartan contest is rated a toss-up, while Purdue's Boilermakers are tabbed a 10-point choice over Northwestern's Wildcats.

On the other hand, at least three-touchdown favoritism is accorded Ohio State at Indiana (0-2) and Michigan as host to Wisconsin (0-2).

Saturday's only battle not involving an unbeaten club sends Minnesota (1-1) to Iowa (0-2), whose Hawkeyes have the lone overall winless record among all Big Ten teams at 0-5. Minnesota is a one touchdown pick.

Although Michigan gets a 21-point call against Wisconsin, the Wolverines run into a Badger club which has been a loser in extremely fast company.

Pirates acquire Ken Brett in exchange for Dave Cash

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, seeking to remedy their pitching ills, have acquired Ken Brett from the Philadelphia Phillies for Dave Cash, a dependable but expendable second baseman.

Brett, 24, was 13-8 last season and had 10 complete games, three more than Pirates' leader Nelson Briles.

"I faced Brett a couple of times. He had a good, live arm and he's going to be an addition to the Pirate ballclub," Cash said after the deal was announced Thursday in New York.

Two other deals were reported to be in the works Thursday—although none of the clubs would confirm the trades.

In an interleague swap, the American League's Boston Red Sox were reportedly sending controversial outfielder Reggie Smith and relief pitcher Ken Tatum to the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League, in exchange for starting pitcher Rick Wise and outfielder Bernie Carbo.

The reported deal wasn't confirmed by the teams because major league rules prohibit inter-league trading until five days after the World Series, which won't end until the weekend.

In an American League deal, the California Angels were said to be trading pitcher Clyde Wright to Milwaukee for Brewers' catcher Ellie Rodriguez as part of a multi-player deal that might include Milwaukee hurler Skip Lockwood.

Cash, 25, was unhappy sharing Pittsburgh's second base job with Rennie Stennett last season. He batted .271 in 116 games and was used occasionally at third.

He welcomed the swap as a chance to play regularly for the Phillies, who used five different players at second.

"I think they traded for what they wanted," Cash observed. "They felt they needed a second baseman who could play every day."

MT to host 'Cane in SCOL feature

By MIKE FLYNN

Miami Trace, bidding for its second South Central Ohio League football championship in three years, will be involved in the league's feature attraction tonight.

The title-contending Panthers, who have peeled off two straight league victories, will be entertaining Wilmington and both teams need wins dearly to cling to SCOL title hopes.

HEAD COACH Fred Zechman's Panthers and Washington C. H. are tightly bunched atop the standings with perfect records, although the unbeaten Blue Lions have played one more league game.

The twice-beaten Panthers will be looking for their third consecutive SCOL win in the Parents Night contest against Wilmington, while Washington C. H., 3-0 inside the league title chase, has a non-league appointment tonight.

While the Panthers are hosting Wilmington in the SCOL headliner tonight, head coach Maurice Pfiefer's powerful Washington C. H. team will be entertaining a winless Columbus Bishop Wehrle team at Gardner Park Stadium.

Wilmington is 2-1 in the championship sweepstakes and another loss would ruin its chances of an undisputed title. However, a Miami Trace victory would certainly send the Panthers on a collision course with Washington C. H. The Lions and Panthers will lock helmets in the mythical Fayette County championship Nov. 2 at Miami Trace Field in a game which will probably decide this year's SCOL king.

The top-ranked Lions will be searching for a new school record when Columbus Wehrle comes calling for tonight's 8 p.m. Parents Night game. Washington C. H. has registered a remarkable six straight shutouts and a seventh would add a new chapter to the school's record book.

The highlight of Columbus Wehrle's miserable season was a 14-14 tie the Wolverines managed a week ago with Columbus Hartley. And if you think you have problems, the Wolves have games with Columbus Watterson and Columbus DeSales after Friday's game with Washington C. H.

Elsewhere on Friday's SCOL worksheet, Circleville will be hosting Madison Plains and Greenfield goes to Hillsboro for the mythical Highland County championship.

FAST-SLIPPING Circleville, the defending SCOL champion, will be hoping to crack a two-game nosedive when Madison Plains invades for tonight's game. Head coach Larry Cook's Tigers show a 2-4 all-games record while the Golden Eagles are 1-5 on the season after beating Greenfield last Friday.

The Greenfield-Hillsboro rivalry has always been Highland County's most intense, but the last few renewals in the football series have borne no real significance other than putting at stake the pride of the two schools.

And this year will be no different as both teams are hopelessly anchored in the SCOL cellar. Both Greenfield and Hillsboro will be hoping to snap six-game tailspins with the winner certain to avoid the lowest depths of the league basement.

WCH frosh loses

Lion Cubs register fifth straight win

The Washington C.H. junior high team beat Chillicothe Smith Thursday for its fifth victory of the season, while the Washington C.H. freshman team dropped its fifth contest of the year to Chillicothe Smith at Gardner Park.

A five-touchdown avalanche by Jeff Elliott and a great offensive line and defensive effort ran Washington C.H.'s junior high string to 5-0 as the Lions romped over Chillicothe Smith junior high 38-0 in Chillicothe.

Elliott tallied twice from inside the Chillicothe five-yard stripe and three other times of more than 40 yards with the longest being 97 yards.

Fine blocking on the offensive line for the second week in a row continually opened holes for the Lion backs to gallop through.

On defense the Lions were led by Gary Huysman and Devik Hargo with one interception apiece. Heysman also sacked Chillicothe runners several times for minus yardage.

The junior high has one game remaining this season. That game will be at Hillsboro at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

AT GARDNER Park Stadium Thursday, the Washington C. H. freshman team took it on the chin again, 26-6, for its fifth loss of the season.

Chillicothe, behind a four-touchdown parade by Mike Fairow and a good defensive team effort, ran the Blue Lions completely out of the game. All of Fairow's touchdowns were from 30 yards or better with his longest being 70 yards.

The Ross Countian scored twice in the first half with the last score coming with just four seconds remaining in the second quarter. Added to the two touchdowns in the first half were two more in the second half both from long runs by Fairow.

The Blue Lions' only score came early in the third quarter when Sam McClendon pranced 12 yards to paydirt.

Defensively, the frosh played a fine game other than the four break-away plays for touchdowns. On the offense the Lions moved and controlled the ball, but failed to mount many scoring threats. The offensive line, led by big Mike Maddux, opened some good holes for the runners, but the lack of speed killed every drive for the goal line.

With the loss to Chillicothe, the Washington C.H. frosh have closed out the 1973 season with its worst mark ever under coach John Skinner. Skinner has been a coach at Washington C.H. for nine years and has only lost nine games since starting.

Hefty Ohio college grid slate on tap

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Al Christopher, mindful of a year ago, warns his Muskingum College football team "a new season" starts Saturday.

The Muskies launch their 1973 Ohio Conference campaign against visiting Otterbein, bent on defending their Blue Division championship.

Muskingum is only 3-2 in non-conference tuneups, but a year ago they lugged four straight losses into league play and then stunned the OC with an unbeaten division record.

The contest is one of five Ohio Conference games and 22 involving Ohio college football teams Saturday.

Top-ranked Ohio State, gliding along with four straight victories hits the Big Ten road for the second straight week. The Buckeyes go to Indiana.

Meanwhile, No. 20 Miami risks its unbeaten record at Bowling Green in the lone MidAmerican game this week. The Redskins need a victory to narrow the gap on MAC leading Kent State.

The Flashes concentrate on a non-conference home game with Eastern Michigan. Toledo entertains Dayton and Cincinnati has Wichita State as its visitor.

At night, Ohio University visits South Carolina and Xavier travels to Arkansas State.

At Muskingum, Christopher expects a wide-open scramble in the Blue Division to see who will face the Red Division champion in the OC title playoff.

"I look for close games all the way through," he said. "Besides, I'm sure everyone is looking at what we accomplished last year. It's like a new season."

Denison (0-1) plays at Marietta (1-0) in the other Blue Division game.

In the Red Division, Wittenberg (1-0) is at Wooster (1-0), Mount Union (0-1) at Capital (0-1) and Heidelberg (1-0) at Baldwin-Wallace (0-1) in a night game.

Bluffton (4-0) can move closer to the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference crown at Defiance (2-2). Wilmington (1-2) is at Manchester (0-3-1) in another H-BC pairing.

Hiram, atop the Presidents Conference with a 2-0 record, should clear its third league hurdle against visiting Case Western Reserve (0-4). Carnegie-Mellon (1-1) travels to John Carroll (1-0-2) in Presidents action, too.

Elsewhere, Ohio Northern is at Ashland, Ohio Wesleyan at Wabash, Oberlin at Kenyon, Grand Valley at Findlay, West Virginia State at Central State and, at night, Youngstown State at Akron.

Rams picked over Packers

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Chuck Knox of the surprising, unbeaten Los Angeles Rams figures his team's clash with the Green Bay Packers "is the most important game of our season."

He'll start worrying about the Minnesota Vikings on Monday, a day after the Rams play the Packers. The Vikings are the National Football League's only other unbeaten and untied team.

Barring a pair of monumental upsets, there still should be two unbeaten and untied teams after this weekend.

Last week's forecast was rather fearful—seven right, five wrong and one tie. That dropped the average to .694 with a 43-19-3 showing.

Green Bay, 2-1-2, at Los Angeles, 5-0—The Rams showed last week that their defensive secondary is solid. This time Los Angeles' defense against the run will be severely tested. RAMS 24, PACKERS 18.

Philadelphis, 1-3-1, at Minnesota, 5-0—Philadelphia finally won a game last week. But not two straight. VIKINGS 28, EAGLES 14.

Buffalo, 4-1, at Miami, 4-1—I doesn't take genius to pick Miami, just common sense. DOLPHINS 30, BILLS 21.

Kansas City, 3-1-1, at Cincinnati, 3-2—The Bengals should be riding high after knocking Pittsburgh from the ranks of the unbeaten last week. The oddsmakers like the Bengals and so do we. BENGALS 24, CHIEFS 21.

Houston, 0-5, at Cleveland, 32—The winless Oilers have a new coach, Sid Gillman. The Browns are 13-point favorites, but this is a good place to pick an upset special on the theory a team often pulls one off for a new coach. OILERS 21, BROWNS 20.

St. Louis, 2-3, at Washington, 4-1—The Cardinals upset Washington when these teams met earlier, but not again. REDSKINS 28, CARDINALS 14.

New York Giants, 1-3-1, at Dallas, 3-2—Both teams badly need this game. But Dallas needs it even more if the Cowboys are to stay within striking distance of the Redskins in the NFC East. COWBOYS 30, GIANTS 14.

New England, 1-4, at Chicago, 1-4—Chicago should get back on the right track with this one, band besides, New England has already won once this year. BEARS 31, PATRIOTS 17.

New York Jets, 2-3, at Pittsburgh, 4-1—The Steelers were upset last week by the Bengals. The Jets upset the Patriots. Pittsburgh is more than just upset about it and the Jets will suffer. STEELERS 41, JETS 14.

New Orleans, 2-3, at San Francisco, 2-3—It's just as hard to believe that New Orleans is 2-3 as it is to figure the 49ers with the same record. The Saints can't win three in a row. 49ERS 31, SAINTS 24.

Atlanta, 2-3, at San Diego, 14—Atlanta finally won No. 2 last week after that big 62-7 start against the Saints. The Chargers should win in a mild upset. CHARGERS 27, FALCONS 24.

ON THE FARM

AND IN THE HOME

The four leaf clover has been a lucky sign for America's rural youth since it was adopted as the national symbol of the 4-H Clubs which have helped farm youth improve through joint effort and study.

Similarly the I-H symbol of International Harvester is a lucky sign for the adult farmer of America. It too represents the farmer working with the best in Farm Machinery.

Both 4-H and I-H have enviable reputations of success in bringing progress to the farm.

We take pleasure in saluting the 4-H members of Fayette County. It has been a pleasure to work with you over the years.

Station wagon serves as elderly man's home

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — Albert Herman is 62 and lives in a station wagon.

He eats unheated canned foods in the front seat and sleeps in the back.

"This is my home," he declared in a husky voice. "And it's an expensive home. I'm just boiling away gas for nothing. Just driving. I stop here and there."

The state took Herman's New London House four years ago to build an access road to Interstate 95. The Transportation Department's rights-of-way division says it paid him $17,500 in compensation.

After working at odd jobs and living with friends, Herman settled into his present habitat.

THE DUSTY dashboard is strewn with well-thumbed maps, newspaper clips, pencils, pens and one glove with a patterned tie stuffed inside. He rested his right arm against the dashboard and leaned back.

"Haven't been able to find a home with the kind of money I got from the state," he said. "And being an old man is useless. You can't find a job. I need a little money, but they think I'm a bum. I ask for work, they think I'm crazy."

Herman has been a construction worker, an auctioneer's assistant, scrap metal dealer and painter of nuclear submarines.

He reached underneath the dash and produced a small can of peas. "I keep food in the car. I eat in the car. The canned stuff lasts me four or five days."

THIS WINTER he plans to rent a room near Norwich. But he says he sleeps better in the car.

"The only problem with sleeping in the car is with the toilet facilities," he says. "I got to wait at a gas station in the morning and when people see you hanging around a gas station, they think you're a crook.

"That's all I own," he said, pointing toward the back seat littered with cookie trays, coats and shopping bags tied with string.

"Maybe if I had a wife, this might be different," adds Herman, who says he was divorced 20 years ago. "But I'm an old man, and there's no future at all — just wandering."

Shades of roarin' '20s

TORONTO (AP) — Tom Groves claimed a world record in 1973 after swallowing 227 live goldfish in nine and a half hours, exceeding by two the mark set in 1970 by a San Antonio student.

Groves washed them down with six beers and a strawberry milkshake, and also consumed a cheeseburger and two chocolate bars.

A BALKY SITUATION — Israeli soldier hauls a donkey away from a tank involved in fighting on the Golan Heights front. The animal, abandoned by former owners, became the mascot of an Israeli armor unit in a forward position on Syrian front.

Arab forces repulsed on Syrian front

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New tank battles raged today on the Syrian front and in a crucial fight along the Suez Canal as Israel broadened its hold on the western bank with reinforcements ferried across the waterway, Tel Aviv claimed.

Cairo said the Israeli report of a major thrust into Egypt was false and claimed the large-scale attack had been repelled. Israeli units are infiltrating across the canal at night, Egypt conceded, but claimed they were being surrounded and one unit was wiped out.

The Russian Embassy in Cairo said that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin returned to Moscow today from Cairo after four days of secret talks with President Anwar Sadat on "all questions of common interest." He declined to say whether peace proposals were part of their discussions.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger continued talks in Washington with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin. But despite the high-level contacts, officials predicted no quick end to the war. The fighting went on for the 14th day.

The Israeli command said its forces continued their attacks on Egyptian positions east of the Suez Canal in the Israeli-occupied Sinai Desert and around the bridgehead that Israel said Thursday it had established on the western bank of the canal, in Egyptian territory.

"In a series of battles being waged since this morning, dozens of enemy tanks, missile batteries and infantry deployments have been destroyed," a communique said.

The Israeli beachhead on the western bank of the canal would be the first time the Middle East ground war came to the Egyptian heartland, although Israeli jets have been striking targets in the Nile Delta. But an official Egyptian spokesman in Cairo scoffed at the claim and depicted the Israeli force as commandos on a series of raids.

"A group of foreign correspondents are visiting the Sinai battlefront today to prove that the Israeli claims are false," he added.

The Israelis said their planes and tanks on the Syrian front repulsed a combined attack by Syrian, Iraqi and Jordanian infantry and tanks. They claimed the Arabs took severe losses.

"A large battle by tanks and artillery is raging since the early hours of this morning between our forces and the enemy in the central and northern sectors," reported the Syrian command. "The battle is still going on."

Israel reported that its forces in Sinai had broken through the Egyptian forces that crossed the Suez Canal at the start of the war and had opened a bridgehead on the west bank north of the Great Bitter Lake four days ago.

The Israelis said they were pushing armor, artillery and troops across the waterway and that raiders from the bridgehead were striking out against Egyptian supply lines, command posts and artillery and antiaircraft missile batteries.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan was reported to have visited the bridgehead Thursday.

The Israelis said they repulsed several Egyptian attacks Thursday on both sides of the canal and destroyed 100 to 110 Egyptian tanks. Dayan said this gave his forces a four-day total of 360 Egyptian tanks.

Egypt said it was inflicting heavy losses on the Israelis in fierce fighting that had been raging since Wednesday morning.

Police storm bank, free 65 hostages

BEIRUT (AP) — Police shot their way into the building housing the Bank of America today and freed more than 60 persons held hostage by four Lebanese Arab gunmen.

The police said they killed two of the four gunman and captured the other two, wounding one of them critically.

Interior Minister Bahij Takieddin said all 66 hostages were freed, but the gunmen shot and wounded one of them when he tried to escape shortly before the police stormed the building.

Takieddin did not identify the wounded hostage. An earlier police report said a hostage had been killed and he was believed to have been an American.

It was the first report that an American was among the hostages. Previous reports said the guerrillas were holding 64 Lebanese employes of the Bank of American and two Japanese businessmen.

The gunmen, who are Lebanese leftists, demanded $10 million from the Bank of America to support the Palestinian guerrilla movement and the Arab war against Israel, release of Palestinian guerrillas and members of their own group in Lebanese jails and an airliner to Algeria or South Yemen.

The siege began just before noon Thursday when five gunmen stormed into the seven-story bank building in Beirut's financial district and seized the Bank of America offices on the third, fourth and fifth floors.

Police and army troops encircled the building and a gun battle erupted. A policeman was killed; one of the gunmen was wounded and captured, and five bank employes, three policemen and five passersby were wounded by machine-gun fire and exploding tear-gas grenades.

When the shooting stopped, Algerian Ambassador Mohammed Yazid and a Palestinian guerrilla leader named Tewfik Safadi agreed to act as intermediaries between the gunmen and Lebanese Interior Minister Bahij Takieddin.

Late Thursday night Ambassador Yazid reported the gunmen refused to lower their demands. He said he was abandoning his mediation efforts.

Police learned the identities of the gunmen and brought their relatives to plead for them to surrender. The elderly mother of one terrorist left the building in hysterics and was taken away in an ambulance.

Riot police, angered at the killing of the policeman, waded into crowds of spectators, whipping them with belts and clubbing them with rifle butts.

The terrorists said they were members of the Lebanese Socialist Revolutionary Movement. Police said their leader was a young Lebanese, Morshed Shibbo, alias Jamil, the country's most-wanted fugitive. He led the band in a series of bombings and bank robberies in the summer of 1972.

The group's first deadline was 6 p.m. Thursday. It was later moved to 6 a.m. today. They threatened to blow up the building, killing the hostages and themselves. Both deadlines passed without incident.

Arabs cut off oil to pressure U.S.

BEIRUT (AP) — Saudi Arabia says it is cutting its oil production 10 per cent during October and November and may stop all shipments of oil to the United States unless the U.S. government stops shipping arms to Israel.

In a move likely to encourage more Arab countries to use oil as a foreign policy weapon, the Middle East's largest oil producer said it will lop another 5 per cent off its production each month after November.

King Faisal's government "is making efforts so the government of the United States of America will modify its current position toward the Arab-Israeli war," the Saudi state radio said Thursday.

"If these efforts do not quickly bring about tangible results, the Saudi Arabian kingdom will stop the flow of oil to America."

Earlier Thursday, Abu Dhabi, the leader of the United Arab Emirates, announced it was cutting off all oil deliveries to the United States.

Saudi Arabia is third among America's foreign oil suppliers, trailing Canada and Venezuela. But the 19.79 million barrels of Saudi oil the United States now imports each month, and the 3.1 million barrels it gets from the United Arab Emirates, is only about 5 per cent of the nearly 400 million barrels of crude oil the United States currently processes each month.

Saudi Arabia and the other nine Arab oil countries agreed at a meeting Wednesday to cut oil production 5 per cent a month until Israel gives up all territory occupied in the 1967 Arab-Israeli war and restores the rights of the Palestinian refugees.

The United States imports only about 6 per cent of all its oil from Arab countries.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said Thursday in Washington that "we can meet an emergency situation if it arises." But by cutting their total production, the Arabs hope to cause oil shortages in Western Europe and Japan that will cause U. S. allies there to pressure Washington.

Oil experts in Britain, which gets about 80 per cent of its oil from the Middle East, said production cuts could seriously affect that nation's oil supplies.

The Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries said countries that show themselves to be friends of the Arabs by not aiding Israel and by pressuring it to give up occupied territories may get preferences in shipments.

New flu strain expected in U.S.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A new type of Hong Kong flu will strike this winter but a nationwide epidemic is not expected, the Center for Disease Control says.

"A new Type B influenza virus has been isolated, the BHong Kong 572," Dr. Robert Rubin, an epidemiologist, said Thursday.

There are two types of influenza virus — A and B. Hong Kong flu Type A struck in the winter of 1968-69 and was blamed for killing 27,900 Americans and leaving hundreds of thousands memorably ill. The new Type B Hong Kong flu has been occurring in Japan, Australia and England, said Rubin.

"It's probable that this virus will become prevalent in the United States this winter," he said, adding the center cannot predict how widespread the new flu will be.

Rubin said London Flu is more likely to occur than the new strain of Hong Kong influenza. The London flu, Type A, occurred in this country last year.

There are two theories as to how a new strain appears. One is that it simply is a variation in an existing virus. The other is that it results from a recombination or genetic interchange between a human type of virus and one that affects animals or birds.

When a different flu virus comes along, previous vaccines usually do not work against it.

Reach accord on Alaskan pipeline bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House-Senate conferees have reached agreement on legislation allowing immediate construction of the 789-mile Alaska oil pipeline.

The provisions approved Thursday contain language designed to block lawsuits by environmentalists seeking to delay the project.

The bill grants a 25-foot right-of-way on each side of the pipeline, plus additional footage as needed to accommodate construction, environmental and safety work.

This provision, in effect, sets aside a court ruling which would have limited the right-of-way to 25 feet. The ruling would have barred pipeline construction since more room was needed.

The conference version also bars any court challenge except under the U.S. Constitution. This has the effect of ruling out lawsuits under the National Environmental Protection Act.

The pipeline is designed to carry crude oil from Alaska's North Slope to the southern port of Valdez. Tankers would then take the oil to the West Coast.

The North Slope field contains an estimated minimum of 10 billion barrels of oil. The pipeline by 1980 would carry two million barrels a day, out of an estimated domestic consumption of 22 million barrels daily.

Rep. John Melcher, D-Mont., chairman of the conference committee, said the bill probably will reach the House floor for a final vote in about two weeks. The House and Senate must approve or disapprove the bill as written under a provision ruling out amendments.

Dean enters guilty plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III pleaded guilty today to conspiring to obstruct the Watergate investigation.

The charge carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine. Sirica deferred sentencing until after any future Watergate trials at which Dean might be a government witness.

Dean agreed to cooperate fully with the investigation being conducted by the special Watergate prosecutor's office.

In a letter to Dean's attorney, Charles N. Shaffer, special prosecutor Archibald Cox said that in return for Dean's cooperation no further charges would be brought with the exception of perjury if his testimony proves false.

Mandatory energy conservation eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials who launched a nationwide campaign for voluntary energy conservation ten days ago are beginning to talk about making it mandatory.

They say such conservation could mean fewer airline flights and a little less television.

So far, mandatory fuel conservation is in the discussion stage, they said Thursday. But that's what they said last Aug. 9.

At the time a program of mandatory fuel allocation was published "for comment only" from the public and industry, and it was billed as a possible successor to voluntary allocation.

On Nov. 1 mandatory allocation for controlling wholesale distribution of home heating oil, diesel fuel, jet fuel, becomes a reality. This program already is in effect for propane gas.

The administration has hoped to stand pat on this limited mandatory program with the aid of voluntary public cooperation in conserving fuel.

However, the administration already anticipates a winter heating-oil shortage of at least 100,000 barrels per day. Also the outlook was not improved this week when Arab oil nations vowed to cut their production to create political pressures against Israel.

Charles J. DiBona, deputy director of the White House Energy Policy Office, floated the mandatory conservation idea last Friday when asked how the United States would manage its fuel problems if the Arabs cut off their oil.

"I don't think it would require rationing," DiBona said. "It could be handled by mandatory conservation measures and extension of the (wholesale) allocation program."

Within days, mandatory conservation, previously unheard of, was mentioned again by another administration official in a background conversation with a newsman.

A third official, Duke R. Ligon, director of the Office of Oil and Gas, admitted mandatory conservation has been discussed, but said there has been no move to draft any such regulations.

While voluntary conservation has emphasized such citizen cooperation as turning down the thermostat, mandatory conservation would concentrate on more limited and enforceable actions, DiBona told a newsman.

As possible examples, he said that:

—Gasoline could be saved by lowering highway speed limits.

—The Civil Aeronautics Board could reduce the number of airline flights on routes where competing lines now fly partly-empty planes.

—The operating hours of large commercial establishments could be shortened and large electric signs could be turned off.

—Outdoor gas lamps could be shut off.

—Television broadcasting could be reduced by one hour per day.

'Pogo' creator dies at 60

Kelly died Thursday at a convalescent hospital.

In event of catastrophe . . .

Group plans mock disaster

Sometime in November — when least expected — a disaster will strike the Washington C. H. area.

It will be as real as any disaster, except for one thing; this disaster is being planned.

The first stage in the planning was completed at Fayette Memorial Hospital Thursday afternoon under the direction of Robert L. Kunz, hospital administrator, and Dr. Philip E. Binzel, chairman of the disaster committee.

The purpose of the mock disaster is to insure an effective emergency program for patient care at the hospital in event of a "real" large scale disaster.

People and services who will play a strategic part in the program include the city's Police Department, the Sheriff's Department, the Fire Department, the superintendent of city schools, ambulance services, all hospital personnel and the media; and of course, the 30-40 staged "victims" of the catastrophe.

Series of labor disputes rake Ohio during week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Production ground to a halt at a number of Ohio automotive and rubber plants as a series of labor disputes raked across the state this week.

Court action followed the labor problems in three of the strikes, although picketing occurred without incident elsewhere.

The strikes and work stoppages included the seven Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. plants in Akron, the Seiberling Tire & Rubber Co. in suburban Barberton, two International Harvester plants in Springfield, two Chrysler Corp. plants in Dayton and the General Motors complex in Lordstown.

GM officials said they hoped to return the Chevrolet Vegas and van truck assembly lines to production this morning in Lordstown. Both closed down Thursday evening after workers failed to show up for work, apparently steered away by a wildcat strike earlier in the day.

A Summit County Common Pleas Court judge ordered limits to the number of pickets at the seven Firestone plants in Akron after 3,500 members of the United Rubber Workers Local 7 walked off the job.

The workers are seeking a supplemental agreement, covering local issues, to a national contract negotiated earlier this year.

Twelve URW Local 18 workers pleaded guilty to contempt of court charges Thursday in nearby Barberton in connection with a strike at the Seiberling plant. The union's 980 members have been on strike since Sept. 30.

The 12 were among 20 arrested after mass picketing at the plant Thursday and were sentenced to one night in jail. Eight others pleaded innocent and were released.

The 6,500 International Harvester employes in Springfield, members of UAW Local 658, walked off the job as part of a nationwide strike against the company.

A spokesman for the union told newsmen that local grievances at the two plants also were being negotiated in Chicago. The strike involves 23 plants in 10 other states.

Meanwhile, talks continue between the International Union of electrical Workers Local 775 and the Chrysler Corp. in Dayton. The 3,300 employes struck earlier this week after contract talks broke down. The two plants manufacture heating and air conditioning units for Chrysler cars.

Ken Chapin, pastor of the Derby United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Pleasant Cemetery.

Investigating officers said there was no evidence of foul play.

Born in Pickaway County, the daughter of Dewey Downs and the late Mary Shockley Downs, Mrs. Rush was employed for the past 12 years by the Ohio Department of Mental Health and Retardation in Columbus.

Surviving besides her husband, William, is her father and stepmother, Dewey and Peggy Downs of Circleville; two sons, Harvey Joe and Dean, both at home, and three sisters, Mrs. Earl (Martha) Liff and Mrs. James (Pauline) Musselman, both of Orient, and Mrs. Jack (Helen) Rogers of Mount Sterling.

REV. JOSEPH MARTIN — Services for Rev. Joseph H. D. Martin, 56, of 518 Fifth St., were held at 1 p.m. Thursday in the Gerstner - Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Fylena H. Beard of Columbus officiating. Rev. Martin, pastor of Wesleyan Church in Good Hope, died Monday.

Gladys Short and Mary Beard sang two hymns. The flag was folded by Ned Kinzer and Willard Rutledge, of the Paul H. Hughey Post, and was presented to the World War II Army veteran's wife, Mrs. Evelyn Martin.

Pallbearers for burial in Carroll Cemetery, Carroll, Ohio, were Tom Coder, David, Larry and Dan Exline, Ed and Gary Martin.

EDWARD H. SMITH — Graveside services for infant Edward Howard Smith, son of Richard E. and Wilma J. Howard Smith, 623 S. Main St., were held at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in St. Colman's Catholic Cemetery with the Rev. Fr. Richard J. Connelly officiating. The infant was stillborn at Memorial Hospital late Tuesday. Burial was under the direction of the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home.

Beef production to remain low

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although consumers are seeing more beef on counters than they did last summer, the government says it will be next spring before supplies really climb back to normal.

The reason: cattle producers, after cutting production last spring and summer because of high feed costs and government meat price curbs, need time to regain full speed.

Cattle pens are being replenished, but the Agriculture Department says the number of animals emerging for slaughter will lag behind a year earlier at least until the second quarter of 1974.

As of Oct. 1, the department said Thursday, producers in the 23 major beef states had nearly 12.1 million cattle being fattened, up 3 per cent from a year earlier.

However, many of those will take months to fatten, and actual sales this fall from the Oct. 1 inventory will be less than 6.7 million head, one per cent fewer than sold OctoberDecember last year, officials said in a report.

USDA experts think that by next June cattle marketing will be running 12 to 15 per cent above a year earlier, perhaps signaling a long-awaited upturn in the U.S. beef supply.

Reviewing what happened last summer, the report said producers placed 15 per cent fewer cattle in fattening pens than they did in the July-September quarter of 1972.

Sales of market-ready cattle were down 14 per cent from a year earlier, as many producers held back in anticipation of the Nixon administration removing price restrictions on retail and wholesale beef in early September.

Prices of live cattle soared to a record of more than $56 per 100 pounds in August, but now have receded to around $42 as more animals come to market and normal marketing resumes.

Many tax evasion cases settled like Agnew sentence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department prosecuted 1,342 persons for income tax evasion during fiscal 1973 and more than a third got sentences similar to that given former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, according to statistics released today.

Of the total prosecuted, 821 pleaded guilty, 330 pleaded no contest, 123 were convicted after pleading innocent and 68 were acquitted.

Among those who were guilty, the most common sentence — given to 496 persons — was a fine plus a period of either probation or suspended sentence.

Twenty out of the 496 were found guilty and sentenced after a trial, and 476 were sentenced after entering a plea. The Justice Department figures did not break down how many of these were guilty pleas and how many were no contest pleas.

Agnew resigned as vice president last week and pleaded no contest to one count of income tax evasion. That count charged that Agnew willfully evaded $13,551 in federal income taxes in 1967.

Agnew was fined $10,000 and given three years unsupervised probation.

A Justice Department spokesman said all others who received sentences similar to Agnew's were not necessarily convicted in cases similar to Agnew's.

"Just because somebody got a fine and probation doesn't mean that he evaded something around $13,000 in taxes and pleaded no contest," the spokesman said. "How much tax was evaded and what the plea was isn't what influences most sentences. Sentences can be influenced by an infinite number of circumstances in the case."

Other statistics on sentencing for tax evasion broke down this way:

Imprisonment only: 157; 30 after a trial, 127 after a plea.

Fine only: 112; 10 after a trial, 102 after a plea.

Imprisonment and fine: 101; 19 after a trial, 82 after a plea.

Imprisonment and probation: 130; 13 after a trial, 117 after a plea.

Imprisonment, fine, probation and-or suspended sentence: 76; 17 after a trial, 59 after a plea.

Probation only: 202; 14 after a trial; 188 after a plea.

'New beginning' urged by Ford

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford says government must make "a new beginning" to restore Americans' faith that government works for them.

"That it works not just for the self-interest of those in office, but primarily for the public interest of all the people," Ford told the annual Al Smith dinner Thursday night.

The House Republican leader returned to Washington early today for a trip to Knoxville, Tenn., to address an association of mobile home dealers.

Earlier Thursday, Ford noted it would have been the 100th birthday of Smith, the former New York governor and 1928 presidential candidate. He wondered how it would feel to be 100.

"After you get through with your confirmation hearings, you may well know how it feels," Ford quoted an aide as telling him.

On Capitol Hill, Senate GOP Whip Robert P. Griffin of Michigan said "charges of politics will be in order" if the Democratic-controlled Congress does not confirm Ford as vice president by the first week in November.

Senate action could possibly be completed by Thanksgiving, said Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the Rules Committee which will conduct Ford's confirmation hearings. The hearings may be under way by Oct. 29, Cannon added.

Cropping up as a confirmation issue are the tape recordings of White House conversations sought by the Watergate Committee and Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox.

In a Senate speech, Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., called for the rejection of Ford's nomination if he refuses to say that President Nixon has an obligation to surrender the tapes if ordered to by the Supreme Court.

Nixon has said he would abide by a definitive Supreme Court ruling, but has refused to expand on what he means by a "definitive."

Ford said, after his nomination, that for political reasons Nixon should have released the tapes. Ford avoided saying Nixon had a legal obligation to do so, saying instead that the issue involved questions before the courts.

Nixon deadline today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deadline for President Nixon either to hand over the Watergate tapes or ask the Supreme Court to let him keep them is today.

The U.S. Court of Appeals last Friday gave the President one week to take his case to the Supreme Court.

Otherwise, said the court, Nixon must give the tapes to U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica so that he can determine if the President's claim they must be kept secret is valid.

Sirica said the only way he could determine that was to listen to the nine tapes subpoenaed by special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Another option open to the President would be to ask for more time to prepare his appeal.

He either could go back to the appeals court with such a request or he could ask Chief Justice Warren Burger to issue an order delaying implementation of the appeals court decision.

The appeals court voted 5 to 2 to uphold Sirica's decision.

In an unsigned opinion, the majority said that the President "is not above the law's command."

It rejected his argument that the constitutional doctrine of separation of powers make the members of one branch of government immune from the orders of another branch.

"The Constitution makes no mention of special presidential immunities," the majority said. It described the President's arguments as "invitations to refashion the Constitution."

Agnew watches enjoy sales boom

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The Dirty Time Co. says sales of its Spiro T. Agnew wristwatch have boomed in the wake of his resignation as vice president.

Dirty Time's president, Dr. Hale Dougherty, said the company's 17,000-25,000 stock of the $19.95 timepieces will be gone in less than two weeks if the current pace continues.

"Fifteen minutes after the announcement came that he had resigned, the phone really began to ring again," said Dougherty. "People want it as a collector's item."

Ohio High Court actions noted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Supreme Court has turned down the appeal of a Lorain County property owner who sought to prove there was a conspiracy among 20 Lorain parties to ruin her business.

Horvitz Publishing Co. and others were accused by Mrs. Muriel Watt Mead after a story in the Lorain Journal, owned by Horvitz, gave the financial condition of Washington Square Apartments, one of her business interests. The suit was filed Sept. 18, 1967.

Mrs. Mead, who sought $1,334,000 in damages, said the newspaper gave "an untrue, distorted picture on an insoluble monetary crisis near bankruptcy" and caused a premature run" on her company's assets.

Lorain County Common Pleas Court found that the newspaper had a legal right to publish the article and ruled that in the absence of an illegal act, there could be no conspiracy. The Ninth District Court of Appeals affirmed the trial court's decision.

In another case, the Supreme Court dismissed Thursday the appeal of Robert A. Gilkerson of Columbus, who unsuccessfully challenged Ohio's "implied consent" law by refusing to take a drunk driving test after being arrested March 29, 1972, in suburban Whitehall.

The law states that the holder of an Ohio driver's license is considered to have given his implied consent to take such tests, and that refusal to take them poses a clear risk of losing a license.

Gilkerson's license was suspended by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. Franklin County Municipal Court dismissed his appeal last August and the Franklin County Court of Appeals affirmed that action May 22, 1973.

The Supreme Court, in other action, dismissed the appeal of Mrs. Evelyn H. Hawkins, who sought damages from Summit County commissioners in the death of her husband, Levert, April 9, 1970, in a fall from a bridge in Akron.

Common pleas court awarded Mrs. Hawkins $143,333, along with $5,000 from Ohio Farmers Insurance Co., the insurer of the county engineer. The appeals court reversed on the part of the county, but let stand the insurance company award.

The county claimed Munroe Construction Co., Hawkins' employer, was responsible for the scaffolding on the North Main Viaduct where the accident occurred.

In other cases, the court:

—Let stand a lower court decision ordering a new trial for Dr. Gregory Zann, Toledo, in a malpractice suit brought by Bernadine and Paul McBride after the physician performed surgery on Mrs. McBride July 2, 1970.

She said she was forced to undergo a second operation in August of 1970 to remove a blockage in an abdominal duct. Lucas County Common Pleas Court handed down a directed verdict for Dr. Zann, but the appeals court remanded the case back to the trial court and ordered new proceedings.

—Agreed to review a lower court decision ordering a new trial in a damage claim against the East Ohio Gas Co. in Guernsey County. R. J. Skovolocki brought the action because of a pipe East Ohio installed on land for which he claimed to hold strip mining rights.

Guernsey County Common Pleas Court denied Skovolocki's claim, but the appeals court reversed and remanded the case back to the lower tribunal for a jury trial to determine damages.

—Let stand the conviction of a Lorain man on charges of possession and sale of a narcotic drug. Brice Riley was convicted in common pleas court Oct. 13, 1972, and the conviction was upheld by the Lorain County Court of Appeals.

—Let stand the second degree murder conviction of John Duncan in the shooting in Scioto County Aug. 15, 1971 of Joseph McGuire, 15. Duncan claimed he thought the victim, who was shot in Duncan's doorway, to be a deputy sheriff with whom he had been quarreling and had threatened to shoot.

Officer snaps photographs of 'spaceman'

FALKVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Policeman Jeff Greenhaw said Thursday he had taken pictures of a strange-looking creature.

"Someone could be playing a hoax on me but it scared me to death," he said.

He said he received a call about 10 p.m. Wednesday from a woman who said a spaceship with blinking lights had landed in a pasture near her house.

Greenhaw, who had been carrying a camera because of numerous reports of unidentified flying objects, said he found no signs of a spaceship but did find a metallic looking creature.

"He was standing there in the middle of the road," the officer said.

"I got out of my patrol car and said, 'Howdy, stranger,' but he didn't say a word. I reached back, got my camera and started taking pictures of him.

"I was scared stiff but he didn't move or anything, so I had a chance to take four or five pictures.

"Then I flipped on the switch for the blue lights and when they started flashing he took off running down the road.

"I jumped into my car and took off after him," Greenhaw said, "but I couldn't even catch up with him in my patrol car. He was running faster than any human I ever saw."

Greenhaw said: "It didn't have any features on its face and had a point on top of its head. It moved stiff like a robot and didn't make any sounds. Its shoulders were round-like and it really moved fast."

The Decatur Dakly published one of the snapshots taken by Greenhaw in its Friday editions.

Study Rebozo bank records for payoff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee's chief investigator is studying the bank records of President Nixon's close friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo, in an effort to trace a $100,000 cash contribution from billionaire Howard Hughes.

Sources said the investigator, Carmine S. Bellino, was in Florida Thursday working on the Hughes-Rebozo connection and attempting to reconstruct Rebozo's complex financial holdings.

Rebozo's bank records, it was said, were obtained by subpoena from the Key Biscayne bank of which Rebozo is president and board chairman.

It also was learned Thursday that Rebozo's handling of the Hughes cash is being investigated by Special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox and the Internal Revenue Service.

The White House said Rebozo accepted the money "as a potential campaign contribution" for the President about three years ago but that it wasn't used and eventually was returned to Hughes. This essentially is the same story Rebozo has given to Senate investigators.

"I'm sure that whatever entities look into this will find no impropriety," Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren told reporters.

Under vigorous questioning, Warren insisted that President Nixon first learned of the $100,000 earlier this year in a conversation with Rebozo. However, a published account of the gift appeared in 1971, and in the same year President Nixon's personal lawyer, Herbert W. Kalmbach, reportedly was informed of the money.

Stock list goes higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market opened higher today after Ohio's biggest bank lowered its prime lending rate from 10 to 9½ per cent.

The Dow Jones industrial average was ahead a fraction and advances outnumbered declines by almost 2-1 in very slow trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Active issues on the Big Board included Great Western Financial, unchanged at 22; Gulf Oil, steady at 22⅞; Aileen, down ⅛ to 4⅝; Control Data up ⅝ to 47⅞; and First Charter Financial, up ¾ to 18¼.

On Thursday the market closed lower, as profit-taking spurred by the Mideast war continued. Brokers said Saudi Arabia's decision to cut oil production by 10 per cent was a strong negative factor.

The Dow lost 2.78 points to finish at 959.74 and the Big Board's composite index finished down .01 points at 59.39.

Clear skies and light winds sent temperatures tumbling overnight into the 30s and upper 20s in northern Ohio.

Temperatures this afternoon should be in the upper 50s and 60s as a ridge of high pressure moves through the state from Canada toward the lower Mississippi Valley.

A trough of low pressure will sweep through Ohio tonight, bringing some showers into the northeastern counties.

The outlook for the weekend is sunny to partly cloudy skies, and pleasant temperatures with little chance of rain except in the northeastern portions.

60-pound porker is traffic victim

Standing in the middle of Danville Road on a sharp, blind curve brought death to a pig owned by Max Schlichter, Bloomingburg.

Steven J. Poplin, 20, of Bloomingburg did moderate damage to his car when he hit the 60-pound porker.

Making a turn under a yellow caution light resulted in an accident at 8:23 p.m. Thursday.

Donald T. Morrow, 17, New Holland, was making a left turn off of Court Street onto North Street under the light when he collided with a car driven by Cheryl R. Tutera, 25, Rt. 5.

Damage was moderate to both vehicles.

Opinion And Comment

In the wake of Agnew

Some cheerful and melancholy thoughts about politics in America come to mind in the wake of Vice President Agnew's resignation.

It is heartening that his departure from office was effected with so little disruption; that speaks well for our governmental system. At the same time, one is saddened and outraged by Agnew's sanctimonious affronts to decent standards of political morality.

Agnew resigned the second highest office in the land, but in effect he was deposed; the resignation was forced by pressures generated by his own wrongdoing. The interesting thing is that this removal from office went so smoothly; there were no factional demonstrations, no one was injured, no voice was raised in angry public protest; the nation's affairs proceed as usual.

We too often take for granted one of the underlying strengths of the American democracy, its capacity for the ordely transfer of power. Commentators galore predicted the downfall of the republic throughout the turbulent 60s.

Yet here we have a momentous political event - an unprecedented event reaching into the highest echelon of government - taking place without untoward incident in accordance with established procedures.

These happenings also prompt a more negative observation. The Agnew case is a stain on our politics. It now appears that a vice president vehemently championed "law and order" at the very time he was accepting cash kickbacks. We now know that while Agnew was making a public show of outrage about allegations made against him, his lawyers were busily engaged in the plea bargaining that brought his resignation and an admission of income tax evasion in return for the dropping of other federal charges.

This antiphony of moral rhetoric and immoral conduct can only foster a deepened public cynicism and confusion as to the political process. That is serious harm for which Agnew must bear a heavy share of the blame.

The republic will take these events in stride because of its underlying strengths, but the political process has nevertheless been gravely demeaned by this episode.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

That fine line

You may have noticed that, while there was great gleen in journalistic circles, the downfall of Spiro Agnew brought a distinctly muffled response fom politicians. Partly this was instinctive tribal loyalty: "We cannibals don't eat each other."

But it also reflected the meditative theme that must have suffused most politicians: "There but for the grace of God go I."

To say this is not to imply that most politicians are crooks — in my experience they are in fact somewhat above the national average for honesty. This may not be founded on spiritual considerations — the late President Johnson, discussing an accusation against someone he knew well, remarked flatly, "He's too smart to steal." (The charge proved to be false.) But, however motivated, men in public life tend to be extremely circumspect.

THE REAL DIFFICULTIES arise from the ambiguities of political spending, and the relationship between favors and benefactions.

Let us take a hypothetical senator from a farm state. In the course of his political career, which began perhaps in the state legislature, he has developed close personal ties with the farm interests. It was not a question of "buying" his vote — he was going to vote with them as a matter of conviction in any case. It's simply that he and his family have over the years become close personal friends with some of the big agricultural entrepreneurs.

Arriving in Washington as a new senator (with no inherited wealth), he needs a big house for his large family and immediately learns that — unless he is willing to move practically to the outskirts of Richmond or Baltimore — prices are astronomical. At this point one of his friends comes to the rescue with a large, interest-free loan, and he settles into a $125,000 home in Spring Valley. (Before you sneer, let me note that if my house — for which I paid about $40,000 — could miraculously be planted in Spring Valley, it would sell for at least $125,000.)

Say the interest-free loan was $100,000 — in net terms, at current interest rates, this amounts to a gift of $9 to $10,000. The senator is, of course, grateful, though there is absolutely no justification for suggesting that his gratitude influences his voting on farm issues. Question: Is there any element of corruption in this transaction?

Let us take another instance, further down the line. A congressman from a large district receives a total of $40,000 in campaign funds. Like the senator, he neglected to choose rich parents or marry a rich wife, so off he goes on the campaign trail, wearing out shoes, clothes, and his car in the process.

He replaces these items from campaign funds. In addition, he combines a wedding reception for his daughter with a reception for his big contributors, most of whom are personal friends. This too is charged off to the campaign; the rationale being that the presence of his daughter, her new husband, and a few extras did not alter the political character of the gathering.

HIS WIFE AND DAUGHTER may not glow with pleasure, but they are probably well calloused to the ways of politicians. The wife of a distinguished senator once observed to me, rather wistfully, that her husband would use her funeral for a political rally. What she didn't add was that he would probably also have charged it off as a "political expense."

I have avoided the simple, stupid stealers, the characters who put all living members of their family on the government payroll, or those who have been caught literally selling their votes. What we have is that vast gray area where politicians have to walk a very fine line between honesty and dishonesty, a line that is nowhere drawn with any clarity.

I have also chosen politicians without independent financial resources. In this there lies a real paradox: the Rockefellers and Kennedys are from the nature of things (as Aristotle would have put it) above corruption. I fully expect one day to see the political theme "Vote for Rockey (or Ted): He Doesn't Need to Steal."

Good stellar influences. Especially favored: real estate deals, home improvements, family concerns and social activities.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Your intuition and self-reliance stimulated now. And both will be needed if you are to solve some possible "tricky" situations. Don't become anxious, however.

Your judgment a bit cloudy now, so make no major decisions and, above all, don't launch any new undertakings. Stick with the familiar.

If you stick close to facts and control that imagination of yours, you should get along fine during this busy, sometimes hectic, period. Pick your way discreetly.

PISCES

Don't give up on a pet project because it seems to lack luster. Try a novel twist in approach — to restore incentive and get going again.

YOU BORN TODAY are unusually versatile, and like the Geminian, COULD scatter energies but, because you tend to be thorough (even too meticulous at times), you seldom drop a project before it is completed. You have an impressionable mind — a good asset if carefully controlled. Art, music and the theater attract you, and you could even earn a living in any one of these fields.

Tesguino, a beer made from sprouted corn, is important to the Tarahumara people of northorn Mexico. The shaman uses it when blessing people, animals, fields or the harvest. When someone needs a big job done, like weeding a field, he invites friends to drink the beverage; they do the work and receive tesguino in return.

"WHEN YOU'RE FINISHED, YOUNG MAN, WRING OUT THE HOSE."

Hal Boyle . . . Remarks for college students

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that college students get tired of hearing:

"When I was your age, I was glad to get $5 a month in spending money."

"Why do you want to live in a coeducational dormitory? I'd rather know you were doing your learning in a classroom."

"I don't object to your having a car while you're in college, Joe. All I insist on is that you earn the money to buy it — if you feel you need one that bad."

"I have a letter from the dean saying you have been put on probation. Is that an honor?"

"Mother and I send our congratulations on your being chosen a cheerleader, Jane. If anyone asks me what my daughter is getting out of college, I can tell them you've already been taught how to wave a stick and yell."

"Young man, I'll be glad to admit you to my lecture course on 18th-century Dolls, but only if you understand that the word dolls isn't being used in the slang sense."

"If you insist on marrying the boy while you're still in college, Jane, I can't stop you. But if you do, send your dental bills to his father, not me."

"The college infirmary has sent me a statement, Joe, listing $8 you owe for a three-month supply of pills. What are the pills for, son — and who is taking them? I'm just curious."

"You may have paid me $75 for the books at the start of the school year, but they were new then. They are used now. All I can give you for the lot is $8. Take it or leave it."

"You can forget your pipedreams about bumming to Africa this summer, Joe. A friend of mine in the advertising field says he can give you a job this summer passing out handbills. It only pays $2 an hour, but it is outdoor work and should put you in fine shape for the cookie-pushing season when you return to college next fall."

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Her pajamas, 'helmet' leave husband cold

DEAR ABBY: I am a male, age 52, married for 30 years, and I am still very much alive in every respect.

For several years now, my wife, who is a very attractive woman, has come to bed fully clothed in her uniform of pajamas which are buttoned high up around her neck and tightly secured at the waist, the wrists, and ankles. There is just no getting in anywhere.

She also has yards of toilet tissue wrapped around her head to keep her hairdo intact, and the whole paperhead is covered with a ridiculous ruffled nightcap.

I wish she would get one of those lovely nightgowns I have given her out of the drawer and wear it, so I could tell I was sleeping with a woman. I just can't stand those pajamas and that helmet!

Does any other man feel the way I do? I hope to see your answer before the fire goes out.

ANTI P.J.'S IN CAROLINA

DEAR ANTI: Yes, most of them do. Women, what are you saving your lovely, feminine nightgowns and hairdos for? It's later than you think.

A woman who goes to bed looking like a scarecrow reminds me of the bride who came to her own wedding in rollers-because she wanted to look nice for the reception.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old virgin and proud of it. My problem is whether to remain a virgin. Half the guys I talk to want virgins for brides. The other half want girls with experience so they know what's going on when they're honeymooning. What do you think?

Another problem: One night my boy friend and I were sitting in his car making out in front of my house. We weren't doing anything indecent, but a nosy neighbor told my mother about it, and now she won't let me go out for a month.

Can you help me?

MISS NO NAME

DEAR MISS: Stay sweet as you are. And endure your penalty like an obedient daughter. And don't ever make out in a parked car again. It's dangerous in more ways than two.

DEAR ABBY: We are 10 mothers writing this letter because we all have the same problem. We don't know what the laws of this state are pertaining to students' rights. Here are a few of our complaints:

1. If a teacher can't control the class, she marks everybody zero or "F" for the day.

2. If a student loses his money (or if it is stolen) he isn't allowed to use the phone to call home so someone can either bring him lunch money or lunch.

3. Do teachers (or principals) have the right to whip a kid without his parents' permission? (They do in this school.)

4. One child stayed out of school for religious reasons and in order to embarrass him the teacher asked the child to stand in front of the class and say a prayer.

MISSOURI MOTHERS

DEAR MOTHERS: You seem to have some legitimate complaints. Go to school and have a talk with the teacher and the principal. If you do not get satisfactory answers, appeal to the superintendent of schools. And as a last resort, there is always the Board of Education.

Mission Sunday to be observed by Catholics

St. Colman's Catholic Church will join Catholic parishes throughout the world in observance of Mission Sunday. The purpose is the spiritual and material support of 130,000 missionary priests, brothers and sisters, a matching number of native priests and seminarians; 100,000 schools; 1,000 hospitals and dispensaries; 127 leprosaria, 2,374 orphanages, 867 homes for the aged and education and formation programs in 833 mission territories.

The Rev. Fr. Richard J. Connelly, pastor of St. Colman's Church, said he will devote his sermons at all three Masses Sunday to the objectives of this annual observance and that special collections will be taken to support the mission program at home and abroad. Masses will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday and 7:30 and 11:30 a.m. Sunday.

Fr. Connelly explained that Mission Sunday also supports the humanitarian and religious assistance for more than 65 million poor where there are no anti-poverty programs. Included are refugees on three continents. At present, 28 lay volunteers, sisters, brothers and priests serve in the missions from the Central Ohio Diocese of Columbus. This week the latest two left for Peru: Father Steve Metzger and Brother Charles Metzger, brothers from Junction City, in Perry County.

Bishop Edward Hermann of the Columbus Diocese recommended the Mission Sunday observance by prayer, sacrifice and service.

Pope Paul has urged the observance of Mission Sunday, saying "the development of peoples is necessary for peace, and the goal of the Missions is development of the whole person. The people of God are a missionary people."

Ohio Baptist Convention meeting set

The Ref. Ralph Wolford, pastor of the First Baptist Church here and two layleaders, Mrs. John Baker and Mrs. Charles Hurtt, are planning to attend the 148th annual sessions of the Ohio Baptist Convention in Cincinnati, Oct. 25-27.

The theme of the Convention sessions is "New Life in Christ."

Between 1,200 and 1,500 delegates and visitors from 340 American Baptist Churches are expected to attend.

The Ohio Baptist Convention has a total of 110,000 and is headquartered at Granville. It serves the churches through an executive staff of 12, plus the executive minister. The churches of the Ohio Baptist Convention contribute $1,000,000.00 for the World Mission of American Baptist and they carry on an intensive and extensive mission program in Ohio. Ohio ranks third in total giving to the Baptist World Mission of American Baptists.

The Rev. Clinton Powell, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, 902 Columbus Ave., has been in Cincinnati this week for the meeting of the Ohio Baptist General Association. The Rev. Mr. Powell, who lives in Columbus but conducts Sunday worship services here, is an officer of the Baptist General Association.

The Immanuel Baptist Church, Leesburg Ave., is a member of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Plans for a fall "Week of Christian Emphasis" at the Hickory Lane Church of Christ have been completed.

The pastor, the Rev. Keith Wooley, said that the purpose of this special week, which will open Sunday evening, is "to emphasize Christ and Christian activities in the lives of the church members and their friends in the community" with special services and programs.

Atlanta Methodist Church setting for wedding

Miss Carol Justice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Justice, Rt. 5, became the bride of Robert R. Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patterson of Atlanta, on Saturday.

The Rev. Elmer Hurles of Chillicothe performed the double ring ceremony in the Atlanta United Methodist Church, before an altar adorned with vases of orange carnations, gladiolia and mums.

Miss Jill Long, organist, and Randy Woods, vocalist, presented wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the Miss Justice wore a gown of nylon organza with empire waist, high neckline, lace bodice over an A-line skirt, and long sleeves. Her chapel length mantilla was edged in lace. She carried a colonial bouquet of orange sweetheart roses and white miniature mums.

Miss Cheryl Justice was maid of honor for her sister. The bridesmaids were Karen Webb of Mount Sterling, and Cathy Payne of Williamsport. The miad of honor carried two yellow roses, and the bridesmaids each carried two orange roses. The attendants each wore dark green polyester double knit floor length gown with white collar. Each wore a white satin ribbon in her hair.

Jesse Patterson of Atlanta served as best man. Bob Justice of Beavercreek, and Howard Payne of Williamsport were the ushers.

The mother of the bride chose a light blue gown with a standup collar trimmed in lace, and with long sleeves. The groom's mother wore a brown and white dress with brown vest. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow sweetheart roses.

Hostesses for the reception held in the church social rooms were the Misses Cindy Caudill, Debbie Justice and Jeannie Morris. Miss Kathy Justice of Beavercreek presided at the guest book. The bride's table held a three tiered wedding cake decorated with orange roses. Punch was served from a crystal punch bowl, and the tables were decorated in orange and green.

The new Mrs. Patterson, a graduate of Miami Trace High School, is employed by H. O. Canfield in London. Her husband, a graduate of Westfall High School, is also employed by H. O. Canfield in London.

They will reside on Rt. 5.

State, local aid to police expounded

CLEVLAND, Ohio (AP)— Ohio police chiefs were told Thursday it is up to state and local government to give them the economic and moral support to get their jobs done.

Gov. John J. Gilligan told the Ohio Associations of Chiefs of Police:

"Marshal Dillon may have been able to get by with a pack mule and a six-gun, but modern police work requires first-class equipment, and extremely high level of training and a sensitive but courageous individual too rarely found in our culture."

Abercrombie backs farm tax amendment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Agriculture Director Gene Abercrombie has come out strongly in favor of a proposed constitutional amendment to tax farmland on its use, not its potential.

More than 140 species of fish are found in Ontario.

Ohio Perspective

Cut in state printing costs seen

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State officials claim they can save as much as $500,000 in the next two years by distributing Ohio's printing business to six low bidders throughout the state.

Joseph J. Sommer, director of the new Department of Administrative Services, said that for the first time since the 1930's, printing business is going to firms other than those located in Columbus.

He said Gov. John J. Gilligan was concerned that when he took office in 1971 all the state's printing was being done by a single firm in Columbus. Gilligan ordered the situation investigated, Sommer said.

"We rewrote the specifications to make them understandable to all printers and broke down the work into categories ... and as a result of aggressive competitive bidding, 23 bids were received for 16 categories of printing," Sommer said.

This means, he said, a savings of about 25 per cent compared to the amount the state spent for printing the past two years. The state's printing bill for the next two years will be about $4.3 million, or about $500,000 less than it would have been, the director estimated.

The six contracts went to three Columbus firms, two in Dayton, and one in Cleveland National Graphics Corp. of Columbus for years was the state's main printer, remains among the six.

The Ohio AFL-CIO has endorsed all four of the constitutional amendments that will appear on Ohio's Nov. 6 election ballot, calling them "beneficial to the working men and women of the state."

In its monthly publication "Focus", the organization gave special emphasis to Issue One, which would authorize the taxation of farm land on the basis of its agricultural use rather than market value.

The labor union said some Ohio farmers, under a new requirement of taxes based on market value, will have to pay up to 12 times what they were paying previously. This would force them from their land "and force prices of crops up even higher," "Focus" said.

Agriculture is Canada's prime industry, although it employs less than 8 per cent of its labor force.

Terhune wins award

Robert H. Terhune, a former resident of Washington C.H. and ex-member of the City Board of Education, was presented the Governor's Award for Community Action Friday at the Circleville Pumkin Show.

Terhune, a former state director of agriculture, inaugurated the first driving simulator class instruction in Ohio in 1932 while principal of the Circleville schools. The Governor's Award was in recognition of his "Outstanding efforts to initiate and implement highway safety education programs in Ohio schools."

In his master's degree thesis in 1938, Terhune described how safety education could be integrated into the total curriculum from kindergarten through high school. Many schools today are implementing the same integrated approach proposed by Terhune 35 years ago, Fred A. Vierow, deputy director of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, said in presenting the award.

Terhune now lives at 2420 Shore Blvd., Columbus.

Teacher walkouts continue

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP)— Buckeye Local school officials have filed suit to force striking teachers back to work.

A hearing on the school board request has been set for Tuesday at 9 a.m. in Ashtabula County Common Pleas Court.

Both sides in the four-day-old walkout say no meetings are planned.

Teachers say they will stay on the picket lines, and school officials say schools will be open officially again today.

Although the schools have been open officially all week, only a handful of the district's 3,500 students have reported for classes.

The Ohio Industrial Commission plans a meeting today with striking Vinton County teachers and school administrators in an effort to find a solution to their month-long dispute.

At the outset of the strike, the school board fired all 87 striking teachers under the state's Ferguson Act, which prohibits strikes by public employes.

Then last week, the board offered to rescind its action for 70 of the teachers, but the teachers voted to hold out for reinstatement of all their members.

In response, the board has written the 70 teachers advising them they would be fired if they were not back in the classroom today.

Job outlook to be grim for graduates

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A University of Cincinnati study says college graduates of the 1970s face a tightening job market and should consider majors stressing flexibility rather than specialization.

The study by the university's Department of Institutional Studies predicts an "unfavorable" market for potential lawyers, physicists, mathematicians and teachers.

The report warned students that "the requirements of specific jobs may not match the skills of the graduates or many of the graduates may be forced to take a position in which they will not be able to fully utilize their education and knowledge."

The study said many persons with PhD's will probably encounter career disappointments in the late 1970s and the early 1980s.

Job prospects for engineers, nurses, pharmacists and architects are most favorable, the report said.

A "definite surplus of lawyers" was noted and "if enrollments in law schools continue to rise the situation will become even more severe."

The report stated the supply of teachers is also expected to exceed demand.

The major increases in bachelor's degrees will be in the social sciences and humanities, reflecting growing interest in social issues, the study said.

The number of bachelor's and first-professional (dentistry or medicine) degrees granted in the 70s will almost double the total of the 60s. Master's and doctor's degrees will increase more than 2½ times, according to the study.

Eber students told of Indian heritage

EBER — Students in the special education class at Eber School have a better conception of what life was like in Fayette County before the first settlers came in the early 1800s after Dr. Robert Woodmansee told them about the Indians who lived in this area.

He illustrated his talk with his collection of Indian artifacts, such as arrowheads, ceremonial stones and weapons.

Engineer believes in ancient UFO

By BOB INGLE
Associated Press Writer

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — An engineer who helped develop the Skylab, space shuttle and Saturn 5 rocket says he believes beings from outer space landed on earth 2,600 years ago using equipment more advanced than anything man can have within the next 20 years.

During 18 months of working in his spare time, Josef F. Blumrich said he applied space technology to the Old Testament text of Ezekiel and came up with engineering drawings of what a craft described by the Hebrew prophet looked like and how it moved about.

"It all started in the fall of 1970 when I got a German version of Erich Von Daniken's "Chariot of the Gods?" and was convinced it was the same old nonsense," he said.

"When I came to the passages about Ezekiel I put Von Daniken's book away and took one of my Bibles. I told my wife, 'I will show you where he is wrong!'"

But, to his surprise, Blumrich — chief of the Systems Layout Branch of the Marshall Space Flight Center — saw things that made sense to him:

"In chapter one, Ezekiel speaks at length about the structure. It just so happens that I have myself designed such things here."

From a modern English translation of the Bible, here is part of the passage to which he refers:

"One day late in June when I was 30 ... the heavens were suddenly opened to me.... I saw in this vision, a great storm coming toward me from the north, driving before it a huge cloud glowing with fire, with a mass of fire inside that flashed continually; and in the fire there was something that shone like polished brass.

"Then, from the center of the cloud, four strange forms appeared that looked like men except that each had four faces and two pairs of wings.... And beneath their wings I could see human hands."

Blumrich has been with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) since 1959, when he came from Austria to join the space program. In 1972 he was presented the "Exceptional Service Medal" by the federal agency. His career began in 1934 in the German aircraft industry.

He said that by using mathematical formulas, he was able to determine the craft was similar to a child's spinning top, concave on the bottom with a crew compartment above.

The ship was 55 feet in diameter, and the length of the rotor blades was 35-36 feet, Blumrich figured.

"The thrust of the engine would be about 280,000 pounds, not much by our standards when you consider the Saturn goes into the millions," he said.

He believes it was used as a shuttle vehicle between the earth and an orbiting mother ship — the same technique used by the U.S. moon visitors who left their craft in orbit and touched down in a lunar lander.

4-H Roundup

Progressive School joins in projects

By CATHY WHITE
4-H assistant,
special activities

One of our projects now taking place is 4-H for the children at the Progressive School. Every Friday afternoon these children have a half hour activity period in which they participate in a 4-H project.

There are three different age groups that are participating, the primary group, intermediate group, and junior high group.

Each group has their own separate one half hour activity period in 4-H which is geared to their own capabilities.

Each group participates in various types of projects. These include cooking, sewing and creative arts.

This spring the children will show many of their projects at the 4-H Expo. This will give children of several 4-H groups an opportunity to show their 4-H projects at a time other than the County Fair. All these children will belong to winter 4-H organization like that of the children at the Progressive School. School.

ANOTHER POINT that should be mentioned is the fact that volunteers could be used. If you are interested in helping these children at the Progressive School enjoy 4-H, contact Cathy White at the Extension Office.

The Progressive School is not the only organization of this type. The slow learners class at Rose Avenue School also participate in a similar program. The 4-H program for this group of children will begin in the next two weeks.

Volunteers would be appreciated for this group also. Information about this can also be obtained at the Extension Office.

Why don't you help bring 4-H to all these children for a rewarding and learning experience for you and the children.

North Side water line survey due

Preliminary groundwork for the extension of water lines to the Rosemont Court area on the east side of Ohio 41 and north of the city limits was laid at a meeting of county commissioners, Union Township trustees, the Ohio Water Service Co. and residents of the section Thursday night.

The project was discussed in general terms, but Commissioner Robert Mace said there still are many details to be worked out. The most tangible result of the meeting was an agreement to make amore thorough survey to determine the number of porential users and to provide the basis for a schedule of assessments.

Part of he area—principally along Peddicord Avenue and Pearl Street—now has water service it was pointed out. It was estimated that there are between 25 and 30 properties for which the only water available is from wells; some of these properties, it was noted, are vacant lots.

The concern of the township and county officials is modern water convenience for the residents and the threat to health posed by wells and lack of sanitary facilities. It also was pointed out that many residents of the area are on fixed income, principally social security payments and old age pensions.

At the meeting were Commissioners Robert Mace and J. Herbert Perrill, Trustees James Baughn and Jack Cubbage, along with Everitt Robbins and Emerson Warner of the Ohio Water Co. Only four residents of the area showed up for the meeting.

Staunton-Olive PTO launches new season

The Staunton-Olive Parent Teacher Organization launched the new school year Thursday night.

After the program presented by students in grades 2 and 6, teachers were introduced. Eight teachers, including Mrs. Jerry Bumgardner, principal, were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Smith requested recipes from members for the PTO's cookbook which is being compiled.

A committee for the collection of Christmas candy was selected. Mrs. Sherman Wilson, Mrs. Charles Dawes, and Mrs.Marjorie Brannon will be in charge of that project. The candy will be given to the students during their Christmas party at school.

Guy Foster, superintendent of Fayette County schools, Kenneth Payton, president of the Board of Education, and Marion Waddle, a board member, spoke to the group concerning the merits of the junior high school bond issue and answered questions. The PTO voted to spend $25 for advertising in support of the bond issue.

A representative of the Boy Scouts made an appeal for den mothers and adult scout leaders.

Chest collections reach 42 per cent

The Fayette County Community Chest was 42 per cent of the way to the $27,000 goal Friday morning after Jim Dunn, secretary-treasurer, reported contributions of cash and pledges now total $11,233.18.

Contributions, he said, include those by business firms, industries and employe groups and from the residential campaign.

The largest to date, he said, was $1,800 from Armco and $4,592 from 533 Armco employes, a total of $6,397. Lee Lynch, who headed the campaign said 95.8 per cent of the employes participated in the campaign this year and that the average contribution was $8.61 per employe.

The Community Chest directors will meet at 8 a.m. Wednesday in the Chamber of Commerce office to review campaign progress and to list contributors of $100 or more for membership in the Red Feather Club.

Driver forfeits bond

The one person scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Thursday on a traffic charge failed to appear. Acting Judge Omar Schwart accepted an $18 bond forfeiture from Kenneth D. Roush, 26, Jeffersonville, who was charged with a traffic light violation.

Two charged in downtown shoplift case

City police have charged two Washington C. H. women with grand larceny following a shoplifting incident Thursday afternoon.

No charges have been filed against a 17-year-old Washington C. H. girl who was questioned by city police officers following the incident.

Police said Vickie L. Wolfe, 22, of 311 Bereman St., and Mary Jo Myers, 24, of 701 Blackstone St., were charged after they allegedly shoplifted $115.80 worth of clothing from Soldan's Women's Apparel, 212 E. Court St., Thursday afternoon.

According to investigating officers, a clerk at Soldan's had followed the two women and the juvenile from the store. In an apparent attempt to flee from the clerk, they entered the Emerald Inn, 114 S. Fayette St. The women apparently phoned a taxicab while inside the local tavern. Police apprehended the trio before they were able to get into the cab.

The Kroger market, 236 S. Main St., turned six bad checks over to city police Thursday.

CIVIC-MINDED GESTURE — Kenneth Bumgarner, left, president of the Court House Development Co., deeded .847 of an acre of land in the Storybrook Subdivision to the Washington C. H. Board of Education Thursday afternoon. Robert Highfield, president of the board of education, is pictured accepting the deed. The conveyance will provide access to land connecting the subdivision with school property. The conveyed land fronts on Glenn Avenue and is 50 feet wide.

Fall Scouting Camporee to get under way tonight

Final preparations for the Fall Scouting Comporee were made at a meeting held this week in the First Presbyterian Church.

The Camporee will begin tonight at Camp Pine and will continue through Sunday morning.

Scoutmaster Dick Maddux said Troop 112 obtained four new Boy Scouts at the meeting, and he has hopes more will join at another meeting which has been scheduled at 7 p.m. Oct. 24 in the First Presbyterian Church.

Films of Troop 112's 10-day fishing trip to Canada were shown by Scoutmaster William Cales.

The Camporee, which is expected to attract 200-300 Scouts, will open at 5 p.m. at Camp Pine. All Boy Scouts in the Paint Creek Valley District, which includes Fayette and Highland counties will be attending.

THE EVENT will be highlighted by six competitive events which will be staged by the Scouts. The events include such activities as knot-tying skills, tent raising, a compass course and fire building. Ribbons will be awarded and the public is invited to attend any of the events throughout the weekend.

A new award, the Chairman's Trophy, will be given to the best disciplined troop of the Camporee, Maddux said.

On Saturday afternoon, State Representative Joseph F. Hiestand, of Hillsboro, will conduct a trap shooting exhibition. The Order of the Arrow, the best Scouts from all of the troops, will stage a costumed Indian dance around the camp fire at 8 p.m. Saturday.

A non-denominational church service will be held at 8 a.m. Sunday. Transportation will be provided for Catholic boys wishing to attend services at St. Colman's Church in Washington C. H.

Bandsmen get set for grid shows

The WSHS Blue Lion marching band and the MTHS Panther band have completed plans for halftime performances at football games Friday night. The Lions meet the team from Bishop Wehrle High School in Columbus at Gardner Park and the Panthers take on the Hurricane from Wilmington on the MTHS field.

Both bands participated in the parade of bands at the Circleville Pumpkin Show Wednesday night and had only one day to polish up their shows for the football games.

The WSHS band's performance will combine some of the formations used at previous games, with some innovations. Parents night will be observed at the Blue Lion game.

The 4-H pledge

I pledge
my head to clearer thinking
my heart to greater loyalty
my hands to larger service and
my health to better living for my club, my community and my country.

THE FIRST 'H' - HEAD!

The first 'H' in the four H's is the Head. Your head contains your most vital organ - the brain. That's what we're interested in, in 4-H - to develop the minds of young people in a way that would be suitable to fit Properly into society, or else be able to change society to suit them.

In the years to come, the youth of today will be the society of tomorrow, so if minds are developed properly they will have a proper society for their children.

An individuals, head, facial feature, and voice are like no other person's in the world.

That's what we stress in 4-H individualism, leadership, and preparing the youth to lead the world of tomorrow.

THE HEART - THE SECOND 'H'

The 4-H Pledge states, "I pledge . . . my heart to greater loyalty . . ." The heart is the second "H" of the pledge. It teaches the youth of 4-H to be kind, sympathetic and cooperative toward others. Also, thoughfulness is a good asset that can become a habit through practice in 4-H work.

In addition to the many worthwhile skills and information gained in 4-H one builds on his character and personality, The heart emphasize the importance of conern for other people, a vital element in good citizenship.

THE THIRD 'H' - HANDS!

This line of the 4-H pledge is essential to all 4-H'ers. Without the determination and the use of our hands how could any 4-H'er achieve a goal he has set out to accomplish. The finished project has been completed by the use of his hands.

How could a 4-H'er get things done without the use of his hands; Many clubs help in a community project such as the American Cancer Society or the Heart Association. Our hands play a large role in everything we do.

There is a lot of experience gained in 4-H through the use of hands joined together in the right ways.

THE FOURTH 'H' - HEALTH

Health is a vital role in activities everywhere. 4-H'ers strive for the betterment of their community in health.

Each club chooses a member (or members) to lead them in such activities. There are many opportunities in health for 4-H members and clubs.

It is the health leader's duty to encourage the club to strive for better health habits.

4-H gets it all together

Several years ago, the phrase, "generation gap" was bounced around by adults and young people alike. Youths were accused of not wanting to communicate with their elders, while their elders were accused of not wanting to talk to their youngsters.

Today, the " generation gap" has eased and both adults and kids can take some of the credit. Now, young people and adults are working together to solve mutual problems.

THIS SORT if cooperation is well demonstrated through 4-H, which currently is observing 1973 National 4-H Week, October 7-13, keynoted with the theme "4-H Gets It All Together."

Across the country, five and a half million boys and girls, ages 9 to 19, a half million volunteer adult leaders and thousands of Extension Service personnel are involved in 4-H. Working together they are putting the 4-H Week theme into action, in many ways helping to make their communities better places in which to live.

Boys and girls, of different backgrounds, philosophies and lifestyles, working together with adults to solve common problems—that's the 4-H picture in 1973. 4-H brings together youths from all racial, economic, social and cultural backgrounds. Rural and city youngsters have an oppertunity to interact, communicate and share ideas.

4-H is strong, and growing in all areas of the fifty states, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia. Urban 4-H is expanding too. In fact, the major cities in the U.S., all have active 4-H programs.

Low income and handicapped youngsters are involved in 4-H through flexible programs and projects specifically geared to their needs. And 4-H'ers have always aided younger boys and girls in all 4-H program areas.

4-H is reaching out to bring more people together "to make the best better" in new ways. 4-H television series on nutrition and nuclear energy are premiering this year on hundreds of stations. These and other 4-H efforts will reach hundreds of thousands of young people who've never been exposed to the 4-H program before.

HELPING 4-H'ers and their leaders "get it all together" are business organizations, foundations, civic groups and private individuals, who aid the 4-H program. On the national scene alone, over $3 million dollars is being expended in 1973 to aid 4-H programs through the National 4-H Service Committee.

Contributing importantly too, are over 31 million Americans who are 4-H alumni. These former 4-H'ers get together with young people in 4-H programs at all levels.

Working together, growing together, learning together—that's what 4-H is all about in 1973. And we support the efforts of the total 4-H program, nationwide. William J. Kuhfuss, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation recently remarked that "The 4-H Clubs of America are an excellent vehicle for developing sound, conscientious citizens."

We agree with Mr. Kuhfuss' observations, and salute 4-H'ers, their leadersand their friends on this occasion of 1973 National 4-H Week.

We encourage youths to explore opportunities for developing their talents and skills through 4-H. And parents and others may wish to volunteer their services as leaders or program consultants. Further information on 4-H may be obtained from county extension offices or volunteer 4-H leaders in local communities.

We feel that through 4-H, young people and adults can "Get It All Together" for the benefit of all Americans.

Achievement awards offered

Recognition of the achievements of 4-H club members has long been a strong point of 4-H club work in Fayette County. Recognition takes many forms from a small pat on the back in the local club to a college scholarship on the national level.

Opportunities for Fayette County 4-H members to receive recognition are plentiful of course, projects awards at the Fair form the most well known part of the awards program. Local businessman and service groups have been generous through the years in providing trophies, plaques, merchandise, and gift certificates to achievers in project areas.

Other 4-H youth are rewarded for achievement in the entangible areas of leadership development and citizenship services. Trip awards to state and national 4-H events for local 4-H'ers are provided for these winners. Week long trips to Ohio 4-H Club Congress, state 4-H Junior Leadership Camp, State 4-H Conservation Camp, National Citizenship Short Course in Washington D.C., and inter-county exchanges serve Stimuli for achievement in leadership and citizenship.

Many outstanding Fayette County 4-H'ers have participated and achieved in the state and national 4-H awards programs in recent years. The state-national program is designed to reward the most outstanding 4-H club members on the basis of both leadership and project achievements. Awards are presented in many areas including citizenship, leadership, achievement, and practically all project areas. Winners on the state level may receive a trip award to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Founders Camp at Camp Minawanca, Michigan, or National 4-H Conference in Washington D.C. To name a few.

Each 4-H Club member has an opportunity to achieve in an awards area.

Enthusiasm important for camp counselors

In addition to playing stepmother to many campers, the counselor is expected to participate in everything. This includes sweeping floors, cleaning up cabins and remaking all the bunks in their cabine for inspection. It requires talent for answering questions and setting an example for young 4-H'ers.

Little details are minor when you get down to really being "Camp Counselor". Working with campers is challenging and very rewarding. You have plenty of fun, but you also gain knowledge through this experience.

A camper goes to camp for the purpose of having lots and lots of fun. It may be playing volleyball, basketball, softball or taking nature hikes. Probably the favorite recreational area is the swimming pool. Counselors help the lifeguard with beginners who are taught basic skills such as rhythmic breathing and floating. More advanced campers learn elementary back strokes, breath strokes, and side strokes. General swims for everybody are once in the morning and once in the afternoon.

Campers have many responsibilities that were meant to be learning processes and not just work. One is raising the American and 4-H flags in the morning and lowering them in the late afternoon.

Setting and clearing the table for meals is another responsibility of campers. Boys and girls take turns doing this at their particular table. Tables are inspected after they were cleared to make sure a good job was done.

Sometimes, the camp epidemic — homesickness is cureable with little effort. The counselors and advisers try to handle this problem by not mentioning the word, and by trying to get them involved in their surroundings.

Other highlights of camp are making crafts, vespers, campfires, conservation, nightly recreation consisting of competitive games and dances.

Committee key part of 4-H program

The county Extension 4-H Committee is one of the many parts of the 4-H program in Fayette County. The committee is composed of 4-H advisors and Junior Leaders and meets several times per year.

The main functions of the County 4-H Committee are to advise and assists in developing the county 4-H program and activities, to evaluate the 4-H program, and to serve as representatives of the 4-H advisors in each area of the county considering their ideas and solving the problems that might occur.

It is both an honor and a responsibility for 4-H advisors and Junior Leaders to serve on the 4-H committee. This job involves extra meetings and work for some busy people. Many times you will not see these people out front working at 4-H activities such as the Fayette County Fair, but you will always find them behind the scenes, and they are trying to make things run a little more smoothly.

The 4-H program in Fayette County is a top notch program and much of the success is credited to the County 4-H Committee. The people are 4-H advisors and junior leaders who are interested in the youth of our county and this helps to Make the program continue to be strong.

4-H Clubs spell fun

By CINDY DAVIS

4-H is fun, but it's not only fun, it's a worthwhile experience. After participating in club work for eight years, my projects have included market hogs, sewing, outdoor cookery and first aid.

Through 4-H I have had the opportunity to meet people and make new friends; not only in this community, but in the surrounding counties and the entire state.

Camping at Camp Clifton is a wonderful experience available to any 4-H'er. I've attended camp six times as a camper and once as a counselor. At Camp Clifton one is completely surrounded by the beauty of nature where camp is more than just fun and a sense of responsibility is learned.

Many awards are given to deserving 4-H members. Awards are not just given to outstanding projects, but also for the way these projects are presented and for outstanding officers in the individual clubs. These awards include such things as money, trophies, plaques, jackets, trips and the opportunity to participate at the Ohio State Fair.

4-H presents the opportunity to express and develop leadership. The Junior Leadership Club, which consists of older 4-H members, offers many ways to become involved. Through Junior Leadership, I was able to attend Ohio 4-H Club Congress on the Ohio State campus with delegates from throughout Ohio. Other trips that are given for outstanding work in 4-H include the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago and the Citizenship Short Course, Washington D.C.

Advisers vital to success

The 4-H club adviser - the adult volunteer leader who teaches 4-H members - is the most important key to the success that 4-H club work enjoys.

A foreign visitor to this country once observed that all activity would come to a halt if Americans were suddenly to stop doing volunteer work. That certainly would be true of 4-H

Who are 4-H advisors? They are people whom you probably know or what you possibly should become. The advisor may be a 19-year-old student, or a 69-year-old senior citizen. He may be a farmer or a pharmacist, an engineer or an entomologist, a custodian or a school teacher. She might be a housewife or a hair stylist, a secretary or a seamstress, a librarian or waitress.

When they become advisors they already possess certain desirable qualifications. Certainly they liked boys and girls, who, in turn, liked them. These advisers were respected in their communities, and they are enthusiastic about 4-H club work. They possess high standards for sportsmanship and honesty. Being unselfish and cooperative, they enjoy working with others and were effective in doing so.

All of these desirable qualities of an adviser will not be found in any one person when he assumes the leadership of a 4-H club. Advisers develop many leadership skills from actual experience working with their club members, other skills are acquired by their participation in training programs, which are tailored to their needs and interests. This experience and training helps them become good teachers and effective organizers.

4-H advisers reward comes in many ways. Most of them are quick to say that their greatest payment is provided in the satisfactions which can come only from knowing that they have contributed to the total growth and development of boys and girls.

The advisers are also rewarded in knowing that they are making their communities a better place in which to live.

Advisers, through their training programs, also learn new methods of doing things which help them personally.

Fayette County's 173 advisers are making a valuable contribution toward building a better place for all of us to live.

Anyone desiring to assist these community builders in their endeavors can indicate this by calling the Extension Office at 335-1150.

Sheep projects are rewarding

A sheep project in 4-H is for all boys and girls who like to be outdoors, who like animals and who are willing to take the responsibility of caring for livestock.

In caring for a 4-H lamb, you must feed and water it daily, wash it about two weeks before the Fair, have it sheared about a month before the Fair, and then it's showing time at the Fair in the market lamb show.

If you are willing to take these responsibilities and keep records of your feed, date of birth and profits made then you are the one to be taking this project.

Along with these two Agricultural Projects are others such as Beef Breeding, Steer Feeding, Dog Care and Obedience Training, Pork Production and Poultry. There are twenty four areas that you may choose from in Crops and Garden. Conservation has thirteen areas to pick from. Veterinary Science has three areas that you can choose projects from. Hamsters, Pocket Pets and Cats are areas in the Pilot Projects.

Any boy or girl, 9-19 years old may become a 4-H member and enjoy any of these projects.

Dairy projects are challenging

The 4-H dairy project offers many interesting and challenging activities to club members interested in the milk producing aspects of agriculture.

Selecting the animal from a herd free from TB and other diseases, and selecting a animal of good dairy type.

Feeding the animal is important for proper growth. Good pasture should be available at all times along with hay and silage.

As any other projects showing at the Fair is the high point of the year. Fitting the animal before the show is very important. Fitting includes daily brushing, trimming the head, and feet and exercise. Daily exercise is also essential.

Other activities of the project include the judging contest and keeping accurate records on the growth.

SHOWMAN OF SHOWMEN — Mike Jenks was named the Showman of Showmen at this year's Fayette County Fair. Presenting the awards is Fair Queen Nelta Baker.

Youth Activities

SOUTHSIDE YOUTH

The Senior High School Youth Group of Southside Church of Christ had a weiner roast on October 6 at the home of Jeff Smithson. Twenty-four young people attended.

Mrs. Vicki Temple led the group in games followed by singing led by Robyn Leslie. Mary Lee Warning gave devotions and minister, Charles Richmond, closed the evening with prayer.

TO LO LI RE MA KI CF

Suzanne Dean opened the meeting of the To-Lo-Li-Re-Ma-Ki Camp Fire group and led the Pledge and called the roll. Renee Hamilton gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Zinn gave out bead sheets and awards from the Council Fire. The next meeting will be Oct. 24. Suzanne was in charge of the closing.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Junior Girls Scout Troop of White Oak Grove United Methodist Church helped a Brownie troop make pumpkins, black cats and bats for Halloween decorations at a recent meeting held at the church.

Ruby Elliott and Sherry Calhoun volunteered to clean up. A Halloween party is being planned for Oct. 30. Any girl in the fourth, fifth or sixth grade is welcome to attend.

Polish fighter pilots compile outstanding record in World War II

FARMINGTON, Conn. (AP) — The Polish Air Force was no joke to Hitler during World War II, according to a University of Connecticut psychiatrist who is also an aviation history buff.

Dr. Michael A. Peszke wrote for the Journal of the American Aviation Historical Society.

Among his findings: From July 10 to Oct. 31, 1940, every fifth fighter pilot who rose to the defense of British skies was a Pole.

In that battle, the Battle of Britain, British pilots downed three German planes for every pilot lost. Polish pilots flying with Royal Air Force units scored four for one. Pilots in all-Polish squadrons attached to the RAF scored nine for one.

The highest scoring unit in that battle was the Polish Air Force's Kosciuszko Fighter Squadron. It downed 126 enemy planes.

Growth is most important value of Junior Leaders

No one can ever completely evaluate all the wonderful values that may be realized from being a Junior Leader. Certainly, every person who joins Junior Leadership Club will appreciate the fellowship, leadership training and personal growth that are provided.

When a group of 4-H teenagers get together, they are sure to have lots of fun, and having fun is stressed strongly in Junior Leadership. The fellowship and the good times are inevitable when older 4-H members make new acquaintances or renew former ones. Interesting programs and plenty of recreation, such as dancing and singing, create a warm atmosphere of social fun and fellowship.

HOWEVER, Junior Leadership is not all fun. The main purpose of the club is to develop the leadership qualities of older 4-H members so that they, as Junior Leaders, and assist 4-H clubs in organizing the club, planning the programs, and conducting the meeting. The biggest problem Junior Leaders experience is learning to work with other people.

Usually, Junior Leaders are faced with a problem like this: These leaders have the knowledge of what to teach 4-H youngsters, but they find it difficult to get new ideas across to other 4-H members. To solve this problem, the Junior Leadership Club sponsors different training meetings where junior leaders learn valuable skills in teaching younger 4-H members.

The most important value of J.L. Club is the growing as a person. Improvement in his own character is a goal that every Junior Leader can reach if he is willing to work hard, willing to give more than he receives, and willing to be a good team worker. This training helps a person not only in 4-H, but in school, athletics, and his career.

The values of being in Junior Leadership are many. Surely, every Junior Leader can develop leadership qualities, improve himself as a person, and have fun at the same time if he takes the training seriously.

Mets capture 3-2 margin in Series

OAKLAND (AP) — The New York Mets brought a 3-2 World Series lead back to Oakland today, hoping to finish the sinking A's with the right-hand punch of ace Tom Seaver.

Although Manager Yogi Berra wouldn't say directly, the New York pilot indicated Thursday night that Seaver would start in Saturday's sixth game in Oakland against A's ace Jim "Catfish" Hunter.

"Seaver's arm is fine," said Berra after the Mets won the fifth game 2-0 in New York. "Let's just say that it's a good chance that it might be Seaver."

The hard-throwing ace is the only right-hander among the Mets' starters, but it really doesn't matter which side they've been throwing from in this best-of-seven-game Series. They've shackled the A's power.

Lefthanders especially have been awfully tough on the predominantly righthand Oakland batting order—and Thursday night's performance was a good example.

Southpaw Jerry Koosman started and shut out the A's for 6 1-3 innings. Left-handed Tug McGraw finished up with a stunning relief performance.

"We've got the best pitching in baseball," said Berra after the victory before a packed house of 54,817 at cold, windswept Shea Stadium. "That's what got us here in the first place."

It was apparent from the start that pitching would dominate Thursday night's game. Koosman and Oakland's Vida Blue were locked in a tense early struggle as the Mets took a 1-0 lead in the second inning on a double by flu-stricken Cleon Jones and a run-scoring single by John Milner.

The Mets had Blue on the ropes in the fourth when Rusty Staub and Jones singled to start the inning, but failed to deliver a knockout blow. Blue pitched out of the jam. He failed, however to survive the sixth, when the Mets scored their second run on a single by Jerry Grote and triple by Don Hahn.

"It was the most important hit of my life," said Hahn, who isn't normally known for gamewinning hits. "It gave Jerry more of a cushion to work with."

Blue exploded a fastball inside and Hahn hit it into the left-center field alley.

"I was kind of tight in the first four games," said the softspoken center fielder. "But Buddy (Harrelson) told me I'd been too rigid standing at the plate. So I went up there super relaxed tonight.

"I felt I could hit anybody. I had super confidence."

That insurance run looked big in the late going when Koosman got into trouble. In the seventh inning, he walked Gene Tenace and gave up a one-out double to Ray Fosse that put men on second and third.

Browns, Cowboys victors

Panther frosh notch fourth straight win

The Miami Trace freshman team rolled to its fourth victory in a row after an opening season tie by defeating Wilmington 12-0 Thursday at Miami Trace Field.

Following the freshman game the Miami Trace junior high league held two games. The Browns defeated the Rams 22-8 and the Cowboys kept their winning streak alive with a 48-6 victory over the Bengals.

The Panther frosh remained scoreless through two quarters, but got on the track and produced two touchdowns in the second half while allowing none to the Clinton Countians for their 4-0 record in league play.

The defense held Wilmington in check the whole game. Miami Trace allowed 118 yards overall with 78 yards of that coming in the air. Constantly the defensive line racked up the Wilmington runners behind the line of scrimmage.

WITH THE defense doing a great job the offense totalled 210 yards with the majority of that going to Dan Gifford who tallied 90 yards in only 13 tries.

The scoring for Miami Trace came from runs of 41 yards and 30 yards by Gifford and Mike Crabtree, respectively.

The freshman play one more game for the season at Miami Trace Field. Unioto will come in for a 4 p.m. encounter Thursday.

In the junior high league the Browns scored 22 points in the second half to give them their first victory of the season over the winless Rams.

The Browns' scores came on three runs from within the 30-yard stripe by Shane Riley, Dave Hennesey and Scott Martin.

The Rams' only score came in the first quarter on a C. J. Nicley pass to Walter Hart.

In the third contest of the evening at Miami Trace Field the Bengals were thumped by the Cowboys for their first loss of the season.

The Bengals only tally came in the fourth quarter on a three-yard run by Kevin Stockwell.

But the Cowboys, led by Art Schlichter, scored in every quarter to keep a perfect record at 3-0.

Schlichter hit on 12 of 17 passes for 267 yards and three touchdowns. The talented passer also scored on a 15-yard jaunt. The other Cowboy scores came from runs by Todd Anderson, Dennis Combs and Dean Farris. On the receiving end of Schlichter's passes were Bill Hanners and Farris.

The Miami Trace junior high league will have another set of games next Thursday evening following the freshman game.

Ohio State, Michigan favored

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio State's top-rated Buckeyes and Michigan's No. 4 Wolverines both are favored heavily to continue dominating the Big Ten football race Saturday when two other still undefeated contenders may stumble.

Illinois and Northwestern, also owning 2-0 Conference records, could be in trouble in road tests respectively at Michigan State 0-2 and Purdue 1-1.

The Fighting Illini-Spartan contest is rated a toss-up, while Purdue's Boilermakers are tabbed a 10-point choice over Northwestern's Wildcats.

On the other hand, at least three-touchdown favoritism is accorded Ohio State at Indiana (0-2) and Michigan as host to Wisconsin (0-2).

Saturday's only battle not involving an unbeaten club sends Minnesota (1-1) to Iowa (0-2), whose Hawkeyes have the lone overall winless record among all Big Ten teams at 0-5. Minnesota is a one touchdown pick.

Although Michigan gets a 21-point call against Wisconsin, the Wolverines run into a Badger club which has been a loser in extremely fast company.

Pirates acquire Ken Brett in exchange for Dave Cash

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, seeking to remedy their pitching ills, have acquired Ken Brett from the Philadelphia Phillies for Dave Cash, a dependable but expendable second baseman.

Brett, 24, was 13-8 last season and had 10 complete games, three more than Pirates' leader Nelson Briles.

"I faced Brett a couple of times. He had a good, live arm and he's going to be an addition to the Pirate ballclub," Cash said after the deal was announced Thursday in New York.

Two other deals were reported to be in the works Thursday—although none of the clubs would confirm the trades.

In an interleague swap, the American League's Boston Red Sox were reportedly sending controversial outfielder Reggie Smith and relief pitcher Ken Tatum to the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League, in exchange for starting pitcher Rick Wise and outfielder Bernie Carbo.

The reported deal wasn't confirmed by the teams because major league rules prohibit inter-league trading until five days after the World Series, which won't end until the weekend.

In an American League deal, the California Angels were said to be trading pitcher Clyde Wright to Milwaukee for Brewers' catcher Ellie Rodriguez as part of a multi-player deal that might include Milwaukee hurler Skip Lockwood.

Cash, 25, was unhappy sharing Pittsburgh's second base job with Rennie Stennett last season. He batted .271 in 116 games and was used occasionally at third.

He welcomed the swap as a chance to play regularly for the Phillies, who used five different players at second.

"I think they traded for what they wanted," Cash observed. "They felt they needed a second baseman who could play every day."

MT to host 'Cane in SCOL feature

By MIKE FLYNN

Miami Trace, bidding for its second South Central Ohio League football championship in three years, will be involved in the league's feature attraction tonight.

The title-contending Panthers, who have peeled off two straight league victories, will be entertaining Wilmington and both teams need wins dearly to cling to SCOL title hopes.

HEAD COACH Fred Zechman's Panthers and Washington C. H. are tightly bunched atop the standings with perfect records, although the unbeaten Blue Lions have played one more league game.

The twice-beaten Panthers will be looking for their third consecutive SCOL win in the Parents Night contest against Wilmington, while Washington C. H., 3-0 inside the league title chase, has a non-league appointment tonight.

While the Panthers are hosting Wilmington in the SCOL headliner tonight, head coach Maurice Pfiefer's powerful Washington C. H. team will be entertaining a winless Columbus Bishop Wehrle team at Gardner Park Stadium.

Wilmington is 2-1 in the championship sweepstakes and another loss would ruin its chances of an undisputed title. However, a Miami Trace victory would certainly send the Panthers on a collision course with Washington C. H. The Lions and Panthers will lock helmets in the mythical Fayette County championship Nov. 2 at Miami Trace Field in a game which will probably decide this year's SCOL king.

The top-ranked Lions will be searching for a new school record when Columbus Wehrle comes calling for tonight's 8 p.m. Parents Night game. Washington C. H. has registered a remarkable six straight shutouts and a seventh would add a new chapter to the school's record book.

The highlight of Columbus Wehrle's miserable season was a 14-14 tie the Wolverines managed a week ago with Columbus Hartley. And if you think you have problems, the Wolves have games with Columbus Watterson and Columbus DeSales after Friday's game with Washington C. H.

Elsewhere on Friday's SCOL worksheet, Circleville will be hosting Madison Plains and Greenfield goes to Hillsboro for the mythical Highland County championship.

FAST-SLIPPING Circleville, the defending SCOL champion, will be hoping to crack a two-game nosedive when Madison Plains invades for tonight's game. Head coach Larry Cook's Tigers show a 2-4 all-games record while the Golden Eagles are 1-5 on the season after beating Greenfield last Friday.

The Greenfield-Hillsboro rivalry has always been Highland County's most intense, but the last few renewals in the football series have borne no real significance other than putting at stake the pride of the two schools.

And this year will be no different as both teams are hopelessly anchored in the SCOL cellar. Both Greenfield and Hillsboro will be hoping to snap six-game tailspins with the winner certain to avoid the lowest depths of the league basement.

WCH frosh loses

Lion Cubs register fifth straight win

The Washington C.H. junior high team beat Chillicothe Smith Thursday for its fifth victory of the season, while the Washington C.H. freshman team dropped its fifth contest of the year to Chillicothe Smith at Gardner Park.

A five-touchdown avalanche by Jeff Elliott and a great offensive line and defensive effort ran Washington C.H.'s junior high string to 5-0 as the Lions romped over Chillicothe Smith junior high 38-0 in Chillicothe.

Elliott tallied twice from inside the Chillicothe five-yard stripe and three other times of more than 40 yards with the longest being 97 yards.

Fine blocking on the offensive line for the second week in a row continually opened holes for the Lion backs to gallop through.

On defense the Lions were led by Gary Huysman and Devik Hargo with one interception apiece. Heysman also sacked Chillicothe runners several times for minus yardage.

The junior high has one game remaining this season. That game will be at Hillsboro at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

AT GARDNER Park Stadium Thursday, the Washington C. H. freshman team took it on the chin again, 26-6, for its fifth loss of the season.

Chillicothe, behind a four-touchdown parade by Mike Fairow and a good defensive team effort, ran the Blue Lions completely out of the game. All of Fairow's touchdowns were from 30 yards or better with his longest being 70 yards.

The Ross Countian scored twice in the first half with the last score coming with just four seconds remaining in the second quarter. Added to the two touchdowns in the first half were two more in the second half both from long runs by Fairow.

The Blue Lions' only score came early in the third quarter when Sam McClendon pranced 12 yards to paydirt.

Defensively, the frosh played a fine game other than the four break-away plays for touchdowns. On the offense the Lions moved and controlled the ball, but failed to mount many scoring threats. The offensive line, led by big Mike Maddux, opened some good holes for the runners, but the lack of speed killed every drive for the goal line.

With the loss to Chillicothe, the Washington C.H. frosh have closed out the 1973 season with its worst mark ever under coach John Skinner. Skinner has been a coach at Washington C.H. for nine years and has only lost nine games since starting.

Hefty Ohio college grid slate on tap

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Al Christopher, mindful of a year ago, warns his Muskingum College football team "a new season" starts Saturday.

The Muskies launch their 1973 Ohio Conference campaign against visiting Otterbein, bent on defending their Blue Division championship.

Muskingum is only 3-2 in non-conference tuneups, but a year ago they lugged four straight losses into league play and then stunned the OC with an unbeaten division record.

The contest is one of five Ohio Conference games and 22 involving Ohio college football teams Saturday.

Top-ranked Ohio State, gliding along with four straight victories hits the Big Ten road for the second straight week. The Buckeyes go to Indiana.

Meanwhile, No. 20 Miami risks its unbeaten record at Bowling Green in the lone MidAmerican game this week. The Redskins need a victory to narrow the gap on MAC leading Kent State.

The Flashes concentrate on a non-conference home game with Eastern Michigan. Toledo entertains Dayton and Cincinnati has Wichita State as its visitor.

At night, Ohio University visits South Carolina and Xavier travels to Arkansas State.

At Muskingum, Christopher expects a wide-open scramble in the Blue Division to see who will face the Red Division champion in the OC title playoff.

"I look for close games all the way through," he said. "Besides, I'm sure everyone is looking at what we accomplished last year. It's like a new season."

Denison (0-1) plays at Marietta (1-0) in the other Blue Division game.

In the Red Division, Wittenberg (1-0) is at Wooster (1-0), Mount Union (0-1) at Capital (0-1) and Heidelberg (1-0) at Baldwin-Wallace (0-1) in a night game.

Bluffton (4-0) can move closer to the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference crown at Defiance (2-2). Wilmington (1-2) is at Manchester (0-3-1) in another H-BC pairing.

Hiram, atop the Presidents Conference with a 2-0 record, should clear its third league hurdle against visiting Case Western Reserve (0-4). Carnegie-Mellon (1-1) travels to John Carroll (1-0-2) in Presidents action, too.

Elsewhere, Ohio Northern is at Ashland, Ohio Wesleyan at Wabash, Oberlin at Kenyon, Grand Valley at Findlay, West Virginia State at Central State and, at night, Youngstown State at Akron.

Rams picked over Packers

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Chuck Knox of the surprising, unbeaten Los Angeles Rams figures his team's clash with the Green Bay Packers "is the most important game of our season."

He'll start worrying about the Minnesota Vikings on Monday, a day after the Rams play the Packers. The Vikings are the National Football League's only other unbeaten and untied team.

Barring a pair of monumental upsets, there still should be two unbeaten and untied teams after this weekend.

Last week's forecast was rather fearful—seven right, five wrong and one tie. That dropped the average to .694 with a 43-19-3 showing.

Green Bay, 2-1-2, at Los Angeles, 5-0—The Rams showed last week that their defensive secondary is solid. This time Los Angeles' defense against the run will be severely tested. RAMS 24, PACKERS 18.

Philadelphis, 1-3-1, at Minnesota, 5-0—Philadelphia finally won a game last week. But not two straight. VIKINGS 28, EAGLES 14.

Buffalo, 4-1, at Miami, 4-1—I doesn't take genius to pick Miami, just common sense. DOLPHINS 30, BILLS 21.

Kansas City, 3-1-1, at Cincinnati, 3-2—The Bengals should be riding high after knocking Pittsburgh from the ranks of the unbeaten last week. The oddsmakers like the Bengals and so do we. BENGALS 24, CHIEFS 21.

Houston, 0-5, at Cleveland, 32—The winless Oilers have a new coach, Sid Gillman. The Browns are 13-point favorites, but this is a good place to pick an upset special on the theory a team often pulls one off for a new coach. OILERS 21, BROWNS 20.

St. Louis, 2-3, at Washington, 4-1—The Cardinals upset Washington when these teams met earlier, but not again. REDSKINS 28, CARDINALS 14.

New York Giants, 1-3-1, at Dallas, 3-2—Both teams badly need this game. But Dallas needs it even more if the Cowboys are to stay within striking distance of the Redskins in the NFC East. COWBOYS 30, GIANTS 14.

New England, 1-4, at Chicago, 1-4—Chicago should get back on the right track with this one, band besides, New England has already won once this year. BEARS 31, PATRIOTS 17.

New York Jets, 2-3, at Pittsburgh, 4-1—The Steelers were upset last week by the Bengals. The Jets upset the Patriots. Pittsburgh is more than just upset about it and the Jets will suffer. STEELERS 41, JETS 14.

New Orleans, 2-3, at San Francisco, 2-3—It's just as hard to believe that New Orleans is 2-3 as it is to figure the 49ers with the same record. The Saints can't win three in a row. 49ERS 31, SAINTS 24.

Atlanta, 2-3, at San Diego, 14—Atlanta finally won No. 2 last week after that big 62-7 start against the Saints. The Chargers should win in a mild upset. CHARGERS 27, FALCONS 24.

ON THE FARM

AND IN THE HOME

The four leaf clover has been a lucky sign for America's rural youth since it was adopted as the national symbol of the 4-H Clubs which have helped farm youth improve through joint effort and study.

Similarly the I-H symbol of International Harvester is a lucky sign for the adult farmer of America. It too represents the farmer working with the best in Farm Machinery.

Both 4-H and I-H have enviable reputations of success in bringing progress to the farm.

We take pleasure in saluting the 4-H members of Fayette County. It has been a pleasure to work with you over the years.

Station wagon serves as elderly man's home

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — Albert Herman is 62 and lives in a station wagon.

He eats unheated canned foods in the front seat and sleeps in the back.

"This is my home," he declared in a husky voice. "And it's an expensive home. I'm just boiling away gas for nothing. Just driving. I stop here and there."

The state took Herman's New London House four years ago to build an access road to Interstate 95. The Transportation Department's rights-of-way division says it paid him $17,500 in compensation.

After working at odd jobs and living with friends, Herman settled into his present habitat.

THE DUSTY dashboard is strewn with well-thumbed maps, newspaper clips, pencils, pens and one glove with a patterned tie stuffed inside. He rested his right arm against the dashboard and leaned back.

"Haven't been able to find a home with the kind of money I got from the state," he said. "And being an old man is useless. You can't find a job. I need a little money, but they think I'm a bum. I ask for work, they think I'm crazy."

Herman has been a construction worker, an auctioneer's assistant, scrap metal dealer and painter of nuclear submarines.

He reached underneath the dash and produced a small can of peas. "I keep food in the car. I eat in the car. The canned stuff lasts me four or five days."

THIS WINTER he plans to rent a room near Norwich. But he says he sleeps better in the car.

"The only problem with sleeping in the car is with the toilet facilities," he says. "I got to wait at a gas station in the morning and when people see you hanging around a gas station, they think you're a crook.

"That's all I own," he said, pointing toward the back seat littered with cookie trays, coats and shopping bags tied with string.

"Maybe if I had a wife, this might be different," adds Herman, who says he was divorced 20 years ago. "But I'm an old man, and there's no future at all — just wandering."

Shades of roarin' '20s

TORONTO (AP) — Tom Groves claimed a world record in 1973 after swallowing 227 live goldfish in nine and a half hours, exceeding by two the mark set in 1970 by a San Antonio student.

Groves washed them down with six beers and a strawberry milkshake, and also consumed a cheeseburger and two chocolate bars.
